Israel Bombs Damascus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli jets launched bombing raids on Damascus and Cairo today in a major escalation of the Middle East war.

Ground battles raged along the Suez Canal and the Golan Heights.

Associated Press correspondent C.C. Minicler reported from Cairo that "we are in the middle of an air raid." He made the report in a telephone call to the AP bureau in Athens, but the line went dead immediately thereafter.

Israeli Phantom jets bombing in Damascus heavily damaged the Syrian Defense Ministry and the government radio station across the street.

The Lebanese Defense Ministry said Israeli jets struck an army radar station 18 miles east of Beirut and there were reports of Israeli armor crossing into noncombatant Lebanon as the four-day-old conflict widened.

The Israelis also claimed hitting military airfields deep inside Egypt.

But Cairo said that on the ground its tanks were pushing back Israeli armor in the Sinai and had stabbed nine miles into the desert captured by Israel in the 1967 war.

A Syrian communique said the Israeli jets hit civilian targets in the capital of Damascus and on the outskirts of Homs, 90 miles to the north.

"This aggression caused some civilian casualties," the communique said.

The United Nations headquarters in Jerusalem said a Norwegian air force captain working as a U.N. military observer was killed in his home along with his wife and young daughter during the Damascus strikes.

Israeli officials in Tel Aviv said their jets in Syria were hitting military headquarters and radar sites. The raids were in direct retaliation for Syrian missile attacks on civilian settlements in Israel, they claimed. An Israeli military spokesman said the Phantom pilots reported "very good hits."

Syria threatened retaliation for the raid on Damascus and Tel Aviv.

Kuwait Asks Conference On Oil, War

KUWAIT (AP) — Oil-rich Kuwait called today for an urgent conference of the Arab oil nations "to debate the role of oil" in the new Arab-Israeli war.

The Kuwaiti government said Oil Minister Abdul Rahman Salem el Atiki was communicating the proposal to Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Libya, Algeria, Qatar and Abu Dhabi. Most of the oil ministers are now meeting in Vienna for price negotiations with the major Western oil companies.

The announcement said Kuwait is prepared to host the conference to determine how their oil could be used as a weapon against Israel.

Since the war began Saturday, there have been a number of Arab calls for a halt in oil shipments to the United States, Israel's chief backer. But the only action was Iraq's nationalization Sunday of the small Iraqi holdings of two American oil firms, Exxon and Mobil. And they were considered of no significance in the over-all production picture.

Oil company and shipping sources in London today reported the first significant cutbacks in fuel supplies to Western Europe due to the war. But they blamed geography rather than politics.

The sources said there was no sign the Arabs were cutting oil production. But Aramco, the major producer of Saudi Arabian oil, said it had cut the flow through its pipeline to the Mediterranean by 50 per cent because it goes through one of the two battlefronts, the Golan Heights.

The line, known as Tapline, normally carries 475,000 barrels a day. Aramco said it was reducing this "to minimize loss in case of a break" in the line.

residents were warned by loudspeaker trucks to double-check blackout measures and stock up supplies in their air raid shelters.

Associated Press correspondent Elias Antar reported from Damascus that the three Israeli raiders scored direct hits on the Defense Ministry and the Syrian broadcasting headquarters across the street. He said the nighttime strikes inflicted heavy damage on both buildings and more than half a dozen ambulances carried away the dead and wounded.

A house about half a mile away also was hit, Antar reported.

Kuwait, the rich oil-producing sheikdom on the Persian Gulf, said its forces were mobilized "to do whatever is necessary" to help Egypt and Syria against Israel. The Kuwaiti government said Oil Minister Abdul Rahman Salem el-Atiki also proposed an urgent conference of Arab oil nations to debate the role of their oil riches in the war.

Soviet Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev said in a message to President Houari Boumedienne that "Syria and Egypt must not stand alone in their battle with the perfidious enemy."

The message, released today by the Algerian press service, made no mention of Soviet intervention in the conflict. It urged Algeria and other nations to aid the Arabs and said Moscow was giving "aid and support in many forms."

The Israelis also said they had sunk three Egyptian missile boats in the Mediterranean and damaged two in the Red Sea. There was no immediate Egyptian comment on this claim.

Egypt's first military communique of the day said: "Our troops are advancing along the entire confrontation line, reaching a distance of 15 kilometers this morning inside Sinai and destroying all the positions in which enemy forces were dug in."

"The enemy suffered heavy losses in lives and equipment. Enemy forces are massively fleeing in disarray, leaving behind their fortified positions, arms and equipment. Hundreds fell into captivity."

Foreign newsmen were barred from the battlefronts, and there was no way to check the conflicting claims.

A second communique broadcast from Cairo said Egyptian troops had destroyed an Israeli armored brigade and taken its commander, Ashad Yagory, prisoner.

Egypt said its troops captured the town of El Qantara, on the east bank of the canal, and raided the oilfield on the Sinai peninsula that Israel captured from Egypt in the 1967 war.

An Israeli spokesman said Israeli naval units sank three of the Egyptian missile boats off Damietta, 40 miles west of the mouth of the Nile. He said there were no Israeli losses.

Meanwhile, the Israeli air force "attacked and hit" two other Egyptian missile boats off Ras Mohammed, the southern tip of the Sinai peninsula, the spokesman reported. He gave no details.

Israel also said its planes broke up Egyptian attempts to move tanks over the pontoon bridges spanning the Suez Canal and shot down an Egyptian helicopter that was trying to land troops at Ras Sudar, on the Israeli-held east bank of the Gulf of Suez. The Israelis said another troop helicopter was driven off and escaped.

Watergate Panel Resumes Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee today decided to hear testimony on the impact of campaign sabotage from top officials of the Democratic presidential campaigns of Sens. Edmund S. Muskie and George McGovern.

The committee also decided to question a former McGovern campaigner about an alleged incident in which McGovern's campaign telephones were used to promote a demonstration against a Los Angeles fundraising appearance of President Nixon.

The committee's chief counsel, Samuel Dash, said that McGovern's former California campaign coordinator, Fred Taugher, was not being called by the panel's Republican minority but on behalf of the entire committee.

Staff investigators for the Republican minority on the committee have been questioning former Democratic campaign officials in an apparent attempt to uncover incidents that might help balance off evidence of Nixon campaign sabotage against Democrats.

The panel met in a closed session this morning before beginning to question a Nixon reelection committee operative, John "Fat Jack" Buckley, who reportedly spied on Muskie's campaign.

The panel delayed an appearance by another reported Nixon campaign undercover agent, Michael W. McMinoway, because his lawyers' airplane was grounded in Louisville, Ky. McMinoway is scheduled to be Wednesday's first witness.

Dash said he will be followed by Frank Mankiewicz, who was a top official of McGovern's campaign and by Berl I. Bernhard, identified as manager of Muskie's unsuccessful try for the Democratic presidential nomination. They will be followed in turn by Taugher.

Dash said the committee also intends to call Clark McGregor, who was Nixon's campaign director, succeeding former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell. The panel also may question Gary Hart, another McGovern campaign official.

The panel will recess after this week until Oct. 29 or 30, Dash said, and may not hear McGregor and Hart until then.

Saxbe Bows Out Of Senate Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Saxbe, an often outspoken Republican, today became the third GOP senator to announce he won't run for reelection in 1974.

The 57-year-old first-term senator, who had expressed his displeasure with the slowness of Senate procedures and the difficulty of getting things done, made his long-expected announcement at a news conference.

Previously, Sens. Wallace F. Bennett of Utah and Norris Cotton of New Hampshire, both in their 70s, had decided against seeking new terms.

Saxbe would have been a strong favorite for re-election. His decision could result in a primary fight among two Republican congressmen, Reps. William J. Keating of Cincinnati and Clarence J. Brown of Urbana.

Among the Democrats, Cleveland businessman Howard Metzenbaum and former astronaut John Glenn, who clashed in a 1970 senatorial primary won by Metzenbaum, have been campaigning for months.

Saxbe's decision is expected by Republicans to complicate their chances of gaining, or even holding their own, in 1974 when seats held by 19 Democrats and 15 Republicans will be contested.

Democrats now hold a 57-43 advantage in the Senate. Two Democrats have announced they won't run, Sens. Alan Bible of Nevada and Harold E.

Hughes of Iowa.

GOP chances for the Hughes seat were hurt when Republican Gov. Robert Ray, considered the strongest GOP candidate, announced last week he won't run for the Senate.

Another Republican senator, Marlow Cook of Kentucky, has yet to announce if he will run amid rumors he may quit to take a high-paying job in private business.

Sen. George Aiken of Vermont, the 80-year-old GOP dean of the Senate, also has not announced his plans.

Lt. Gov. John W. Brown announced his candidacy to take over the Senate seat being vacated by Saxbe in Columbus within minutes after the Saxbe decision became official.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown Jr. of Urbana was expected to follow suit within hours. And, the congressman was also expected to fly into Ohio by chartered airplane Wednesday for a series of news conferences in the state's major cities, probably beginning at Cleveland.

Saxbe's announcement caught Rep. William J. Keating of Cincinnati flying between Cincinnati and Washington. Keating's airplane had been grounded by fog for some hours.

An aide said he would arrive at his office around noon, but he was non-committal about Keating's intentions. In Columbus politicians expected Keating also to join the race to succeed Saxbe.

Israeli Women In Front Lines In Non-Combat Duties

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli women dressed in tight khaki miniskirts are on the front lines in the Middle East war, driving jeeps and treating the wounded.

Thousands of men were pulled from their homes to combat units on five minutes' notice, and many of their wives were called to reserve duty for auxiliary jobs.

"I was glad they called," said Tova, a nurse from Tel Aviv. "I was nervous until I got my orders. I felt as though the war was passing me by and I couldn't do anything. I wanted to help."

Israeli women are conscripted at age 18 and serve 20 months in uniform.

Exceptions are made for married women. Mothers stay at home, but marriage alone is no bar to reserve mobilization during crises.

Women reservists were sent to the Golan Heights and near the Suez Canal, operating switchboards, monitoring radar, doing office work and helping in field hospitals.

No women are put into combat, although they are trained in the use of small arms during their regular military service.

In Israel's first war—the fight for independence in 1948—women soldiers carried guns and fought alongside men in the front lines. Premier David Ben-Gurion then ruled that women should no longer fight.

However, reliable sources reported that some of Israel's casualties in the latest fighting were women.

"When the shells are falling 21 miles from the border, it doesn't really matter if you are on the front line or not," Tova said.

Conserve Energy, Administration Urges Americans

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the Middle East war casting new shadows over U.S. fuel imports, the Nixon administration is preparing to launch a campaign to enlist public support in conserving energy supplies.

President Nixon scheduled a noon hour meeting to receive a citizen's advisory committee's report on energy conservation and the White House arranged for a quartet of top administration officials to follow up with a briefing on the report's recommendations.

The recommendations were expected to outline steps that can be taken by the government, private industry and individual consumers to help ease predicted fuel shortages this winter.

The briefing by Interior Secretary

Rogers C.B. Morton, Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent, presidential energy adviser John A. Love, and consumer adviser Virginia Knauer was expected to include a plea that the public help save scarce supplies by setting home thermostats at slightly lower levels.

The chairman of Nixon's Oil Policy Committee, Deputy Treasury Secretary William E. Simon said during the weekend that a three degree lower thermostat setting could save 12 per cent of the fuel oil and 14 per cent of the natural gas used for space heating.

Other recommendations were expected to range from less frequent automobile trips to lower speeds by jet airliners.

The forecast last week of fuel shortages this winter prompted Nixon to impose a mandatory allocations system. Government experts are openly worried about the increasing U.S. dependence on oil imports, especially in view of the new fighting in the oil-rich Middle East.

According to the latest forecast, the United States this winter will need to import 131 million barrels of distillate oils—used mostly for home heating. This compares with 80 million barrels imported last winter.

The citizens committee began drafting its report soon after Nixon created the group last June 28. At that time, the President said "a reasonable and attainable goal" is to reduce personal consumption of energy by five per cent within a year.

Nixon also directed the federal government to reduce its energy consumption by seven per cent.

Senate Widens Mine Regulations

WASHINGTON (AP) — A strip mine regulation bill, defended as a "state's rights" measure but attacked as "federal dictation," has been broadened by the Senate to ban surface mining for coal on millions of acres in the West.

In the only roll call vote during the first day of debate on the bill, the Senate voted 53 to 33 Monday to prohibit strip mining of privately owned land to which the federal government holds the mineral rights.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said the government has the rights to 1.7 million acres in eastern Montana alone, and 88 per cent of the surface is in private ownership.

"Some of these families have lived there since the time of Custer and before," he told the Senate.

Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., said federal regulation under the bill would go into effect only if the states failed to adopt and enforce acceptable standards.

"Basically, this is a state's rights bill," he said.

But Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., said federal guidelines in the act were excessively rigid and would force up the cost of coal.

"This is in effect a federal dictation to the states of how the states shall regulate surface mining of coal," Randolph said.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chief sponsor of the bill, said it would increase the cost of most surface mined coal by only 60 cents a ton.

Jackson said the bill "strikes a balance between strong environmental protection and the need for coal as an energy source."

"We do not intend to accept any amendments which could upset this careful balance," he said.

Still to come was the crucial question of whether surface miners should, as the bill states, be required to restore mining sites to their approximate original contour.

Mansfield predicted consideration of the bill and amendments would take several days.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were mixed today, while analysts said the market was reacting fairly well in the light of the war in the Mideast.

Also of major concern was the announcement that the judge in the IBM-Telex antitrust suit would file a one-page order, probably this afternoon, in the U.S. District Court in Tulsa, Okla.

Trading was delayed in both issues pending the release of the order. U.S. Judge Sherman Christensen last month ordered IBM, long considered the market's shining star, to pay Telex $352.5 million. IBM is appealing the decision.

At noon, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 5.65 at 972.00. Advancing Big Board issues had a very narrow lead over decliners in slow trading.

International Oil issues continued to tumble today as investors worried about the effects of the war in the oil-rich Mideast. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .38 at 107.34. The Amex volume leader was Buttes Gas, down 3/4 at 27 1/4.

Woman Injured In City Mishap

A two-car collision 9:15 a.m. Tuesday at N. Court and Pinckney Sts. resulted in injury to a woman passenger in one of the vehicles.

Ellin H. Giffen, 51, Glouster, a passenger in a car driven by Lewis W. Giffen, 33, Glouster, complained of injury when the car was struck in the rear by a vehicle driven by Ruth A. Malone, 52, 293 Meadow Drive.

According to the report of Ptl. Mike Rinehart, Giffen was southbound on N. Court St. and had stopped for the traffic light at Pickney St. The Malone auto, also southbound, failed to stop, striking the rear of Giffen's car.

More Killings In Argentina; ERP Blamed

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Another labor leader was shot to death Monday in the resort city of Mar del Plata. It was the fourth assassination since the return to power of Juan D. Peron.

Police said that Julian Julio, secretary of a local union of bus drivers, was shot down by two gunmen in a bus terminal. His assailants escaped. Two other union men were wounded.

Julio had been a close friend of Marcelin Mansilla, secretary of the regional branch of the General Confederation of Labor who was similarly ambushed and killed last week.

The national head of the giant labor confederation, Jose Rucci, was shot to death Sept 25. Police blamed a faction of the Marxist People's Revolutionary Army, the ERP, but there were suspicions that Rucci, a conservative and one of Peron's closest associates, was the victim of the radical left wing of the Peronist movement.

On the day after Rucci's death, four men shot and killed Enrique Grymberg, a member of the radical Peronist Labor Youth organization. The youth movement has been a bitter enemy of the conservative labor confederation.

On Oct. 4, gunmen burst into into the offices of a newspaper in San Nicolas, 120 miles north of Buenos Aires, and killed journalist Jose Domingo Colombo. Callers identifying themselves as members of a Peronist youth organization said the paper employed "too many Communists and leftists."

Four months before Peron's comeback, gunmen killed Dirk Kloosterman, chief of the Buenos Aires automobile workers' and mechanics' union. The Peronist Armed Forces, a leftist guerrilla group, claimed responsibility for the murder.

Comedian Red Skelton Marries

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP) — Comedian Red Skelton left the church trailing wisecracks after his solemn, single ring wedding to Palm Springs sportswoman Lothian Toland.

"This was a double-ring ceremony," Skelton said as he clutched the arm of his beaming bride. "We had two rings—one for her finger and one for my nose."

The marriage Monday at San Francisco's First Unitarian Church was Skelton's third and his 35-year-old bride's first.

The new Mrs. Skelton looked up at her husband and said softly, "I just know I really love you very much." Skelton kissed her on the cheek. The bridegroom, 60, was referred to as "Richard" by the Rev. David Rankin, who performed the ceremony.

King Faisal May Hold Key To Continued Flow Of Oil

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Special Correspondent

What enigmatic, 69-year-old King Faisal of Saudi Arabia does in the current Middle East crisis can have an immense impact on world politics. Even the Soviet-American detente may be at stake.

Another humiliation of the Arabs' combined military strength could spell big trouble for the United States should Arab frustration lead to the use of oil for retaliation.

Should Faisal decide to turn off his spigot as a punishment for American support of Israel, the energy crisis would be knocking at the door because the United States has come to rely heavily on assurance of continued flow of Arab oil.

When the new fighting erupted, Iraq announced nationalization of the interests of two U.S. companies in Iraqi oil. Though not significant in the world oil picture, it could apply a prod to other Arab producers, notably Saudi Arabia.

Faisal, a pillar of Moslem conservatism, has shown concern with the future of the Saudi dynasty ever since he pushed his brother Saud aside and assumed direction of the country. One way to assuage revolutionary elements in a nation caught by the clash of modern and feudal might be for the ruler to become an Arab hero.

Faisal probably is convinced that the United States needs him much more than he needs the United States, since nonArab producers couldn't possibly make up for a Saudi oil cutoff.

The Saudis already had aroused Western concern by indicating they would not necessarily produce all the West might need, that they—like others in the area—didn't want to earn more money than they could safely handle and that they were thinking of conserving riches in the ground, sure of constantly increasing value.

The situation is weaving a tangled world political web. Moscow's leaders have been concerned about keeping alive the spirit of detente with the United States in view of potential benefits to the Soviet economy. But, as Leonid I. Brezhnev said a few weeks ago, the Middle East situation is full of "dangers for the cause of world peace."

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were mixed today, while analysts said the market was reacting fairly well in the light of the war in the Mideast.

Also of major concern was the announcement that the judge in the IBM-Telex antitrust suit would file a one-page order, probably this afternoon, in the U.S. District Court in Tulsa, Okla.

Trading was delayed in both issues pending the release of the order. U.S. Judge Sherman Christensen last month ordered IBM, long considered the market's shining star, to pay Telex $352.5 million. IBM is appealing the decision.

At noon, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 5.65 at 972.00. Advancing Big Board issues had a very narrow lead over decliners in slow trading.

International Oil issues continued to tumble today as investors worried about the effects of the war in the oil-rich Mideast. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .38 at 107.34. The Amex volume leader was Buttes Gas, down 3/4 at 27 1/4.

Sohio Hikes Wholesale, Retail Price

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) has increased the retail price of gasoline by one cent at its company-operated stations and its wholesale price to dealers by the same amount, the firm said today.

Marketing Vice President Robert G. Griffin said both increases were within Phase IV limits.

The increases also apply to Sohio outlets and dealers in states adjacent to Ohio.

Griffin added that the similar increase announced Sept. 21 "passed through only a portion of the allowable increase at that time."

Phase IV permits oil companies to pass on increases in crude oil costs incurred since May 15.

Griffin said the Cost of Living Council has announced there will be another adjustment in the dealer ceiling price and that Sohio supports such a move.

The increases raised retail prices at Sohio-operated stations to 39.9 cents per gallon for leaded and unleaded regular gasoline and to 43.9 cents for premium.

The company didn't disclose its wholesale prices.

What enigmatic, 69-year-old King Faisal of Saudi Arabia does in the current Middle East crisis can have an immense impact on world politics. Even the Soviet-American detente may be at stake.

Another humiliation of the Arabs' combined military strength could spell big trouble for the United States should Arab frustration lead to the use of oil for retaliation.

Should Faisal decide to turn off his spigot as a punishment for American support of Israel, the energy crisis would be knocking at the door because the United States has come to rely heavily on assurance of continued flow of Arab oil.

When the new fighting erupted, Iraq announced nationalization of the interests of two U.S. companies in Iraqi oil. Though not significant in the world oil picture, it could apply a prod to other Arab producers, notably Saudi Arabia.

Faisal, a pillar of Moslem conservatism, has shown concern with the future of the Saudi dynasty ever since he pushed his brother Saud aside and assumed direction of the country. One way to assuage revolutionary elements in a nation caught by the clash of modern and feudal might be for the ruler to become an Arab hero.

Faisal probably is convinced that the United States needs him much more than he needs the United States, since nonArab producers couldn't possibly make up for a Saudi oil cutoff.

The Saudis already had aroused Western concern by indicating they would not necessarily produce all the West might need, that they—like others in the area—didn't want to earn more money than they could safely handle and that they were thinking of conserving riches in the ground, sure of constantly increasing value.

The situation is weaving a tangled world political web. Moscow's leaders have been concerned about keeping alive the spirit of detente with the United States in view of potential benefits to the Soviet economy. But, as Leonid I. Brezhnev said a few weeks ago, the Middle East situation is full of "dangers for the cause of world peace."

Poultry Grows In New Zealand

WASHINGTON (AP) — New Zealand, a major source of imported beef for American consumers, is developing a taste for Kentucky fried chicken and prepared turkey items familiar to U.S. supermarket shoppers.

The Agriculture Department says New Zealanders seem to have taken well to such products as cooked turkey rolls, hickory-smoked breast meat and turkey salami. The result could be a new market for U.S. turkey growers.

New Zealand, one of the world's largest exporters of dairy products, wool, lamb and mutton, ranks second only to Australia as a provider of foreign beef to the United States.

But a report today by the Foreign Agricultural Service in USDA illustrates what has been happening in many parts of the world: Consumers everywhere are looking for alternate sources of meat protein and to many, this means poultry.

The report was written by Rolland E. Anderson Jr., who recently returned to USDA here after three years as agricultural attache in New Zealand.

Although Anderson says the potential market for U.S. poultry products does not appear huge, the situation in New Zealand does represent what American food processors and farmers are facing in the world trade arena.

For example, Anderson told a reporter, New Zealand is having to turn gradually from Britain as its primary market for butter and other dairy products because of the United Kingdom's entry into the European Common Market.

Thus, Anderson said, if new markets for dairy products cannot be found in the United States, Japan or among some of the developing nations, New Zealand farmers will be forced into other kinds of production.

The emergence of a broiler industry — and the developing taste for American-style turkey — can help provide the necessary change by enabling New Zealand farmers switch perhaps from milking cows to growing more crops such as corn and soybeans to supply the chicken flocks.

Eventually, that could have some impact on beef exports, too, since most of the low-grade beef from New Zealand comes from surplus dairy cattle.

But New Zealand, about the size of Colorado and with a population of approximately three million, is a long way from being a major grain or soybean producer and has not developed the sophisticated techniques of livestock feeding common in the United States.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Fatherly Love OK

DEAR ABBY: Would you please write something in your column about overly affectionate fathers who encourage intimate body contact (all in the spirit of playfulness) with their teen-aged daughters?

This horseplay between my son in law and his 13-year-old daughter involves a lot of wrestling and touching, but I was shocked when I saw them rolling around on the bed (in the parents' bedroom) while my daughter was busy putting on her make-up in the adjoining bathroom.

Abby, this grandchild is just coming into young womanhood, and it's possible for her to become sexually stimulated and aroused by this sort of thing. Soon enough she will be faced with sex play with her peers, which is normal and natural, but such teasing from her father worries me.

I don't want to hurt my daughter by even suggesting that her husband keep his hands off his daughter. She might even be offended.

Frankly, I am ashamed to be writing this letter. I don't think I'm evil-minded, and I'm no prude, but perhaps my son in law will see it and take the hint. If you think I am wrong, please say so. I'll be able to take that, too.

WORRIED GRANNY

DEAR WORRIED: Touching and hugging is a normal healthy expression of affection between fathers and daughters. But you make a good point. Teenage girls should be taught to be man-handled by anyone-fathers included. And fathers should refrain from intimate horseplay with their budding young daughters. As recollecting as the idea may be so some, it's possible for parents and children to be turned on sexually by each other, so intelligent restraint should be exercised.

DEAR ABBY: To "camile," who wrote to you of her involvement in remembering lonely patients in a nursing home, and to your fervent hope that the idea "will catch on."

I can add to the story by telling you that in Columbus, Ohio, there is a "Remembered Patient Program" of 15 years standing in one of our hospitals for mental patients. People in the community remember the more than 500 patients who have no families or friends by sending cards and or gifts throughout the year on birthdays and other occasions. Some send money that is deposited to the patients' accounts and that enables them to purchase their own items in the patient commissary.

It is a beautiful sight for the three of us who work on the committee and for the dedicated staff employed by the hospital, to see the birthday cakes and gifts that are delivered by these concerned "friends"; at Christmas time the delivery trucks from local department stores make daily deliveries, bringing gifts to patients who might otherwise be forgotten.

If you know of anyone who would be interested in this kind of program, we will be happy to provide material.

Man Shot Playing Cards

SEATTLE (AP)—Myron Albert Hutcheson, a former development director of Ohio University at Athens, has been shot and wounded here as a result of what he called a high stakes poker game.

Hutcheson, 40, took a cab to Harborview Medical Center Monday where he later was listed in satisfactory condition with a .22 caliber bullet wound in the chest.

He refused to identify his assailant, others in the game or its location, saying only that he was shot by a losing player.

Hutcheson served as development director for about four years at Ohio University in the early 1960s. He told police he served as a speechwriter for Richard Nixon during the 1960 presidential campaign.

He is employed by the Bowen Co. of San Francisco.

A Page Of Opinion

China's 'Rehabilitation'

Western observers trained in the vagaries of the Chinese have concluded that a new period of reconciliation and rehabilitation is going on in that vast country. The relatively moderate followers of Chou En-lai appear firmly in control of the political scene once again, and they are bringing back into public view some of the former luminaries who faded into obscurity or worse under the onslaught of the Red Guards.

Events at the recent 10th congress of the Chinese communist party support the contention. Twenty former high-ranking members of the ruling clique were "rehabilitated" back into public esteem. Reports add that all across China second echelon administrators who disappeared during the struggle for power have returned to their posts.

Not quite all is harmonious, however. The cultural scene, including literature and the performing arts, is still very much under the thumb of Chiang Ching, wife of Mao Tse-tung and a leader of the extremists.

At this point in history the bad actors in China really may be the actors.

The Days Of Walpole

By JEFFREY HART

No, I don't think it's a fine thing for a politician to be on the take or for corners to be cut in the electoral process, but isn't there something false and shrill about the tone being taken toward real and alleged political corruption these days?

Senator Lowell Weicker's endless expressions of horror, which always seem to begin "And do you mean to say...?" suggest that he is the Senator not from Connecticut but from Mars. And wasn't the long duel ridiculous between Sam Dash and Patrick Buchanan over the question of whether it is proper for Buchanan, as a campaign aide, to draft an ad for some citizens' group? And how many angels do stand on the head of a pin, Mr. Dash?

Of course, actual corruption is to be condemned, but it is also civilizing to remember a thing or two.

If you asked a historian to name the most successful British Prime Ministers in terms of actual accomplishment there is no doubt that Sir Robert Walpole would stand at or near the top of the list.

Walpole was in power for some 20 years during the first half of the 18th century. He brought to England a stability it had not known since the death of Elizabeth in 1603. Until Walpole, England had possessed all the stability of a Serbia or an Iraq. Our notion of British gradualism and political common sense owes everything to Walpole's regime.

His economic policies also laid the foundation for British prosperity during the second half of the century and beyond. He devised and practiced the modern system of cabinet government.

Yet Sir Robert was also undoubtedly the most corrupt of all the Prime Ministers. John Gay's famous "Beggars' Opera" is a satire on the Walpole government. He came to power by openly buying the general election of 1722, going so far as to place ads in local newspapers stating exactly how much he would pay for a vote. He used court money, he dipped into secret service funds, and he had rich backers, like the Duke of Newcastle.

The duke, by the way, made long, slow, electoral tours, rarely sober, distributing largesse. When he spent some time in a borough, it seldom failed to return a Walpolian.

It has an eerie contemporary ring, but whenever a member raised a question in Parliament concerning Sir Robert's financial arts, the obese, apple-munching Walpole invariably quashed it with the reply: "Secrets of state."

Then there are the much smaller fry. One of my favorite passages of historical writing comes from Sir Lewis Namier's "Structure of Politics at the Accession of George III," and it

concerns one Thomas Pitt:

"Thomas Pitt, the elder brother of Chatham, had entered Parliament in 1727, directly he came of age; he managed in Cornwall the general elections of 1741 and 1747 for Frederick, Prince of Wales, and saw himself in future next to the throne; but in 1751, with the death of his patron, his chances disappeared, while the fortune amassed by his grandfather of diamond fame had been wasted, even his credit exhausted; he had to give up Parliament, pawn his boroughs, and flee the country."

"In 1761, as a man old beyond his years, bare of all hope and full of insane bitterness and wild griefs, he once more had himself returned for the ploughed field of Old Sarum—the family's rotten borough—which his grandfather had bought with money acquired in India. Thomas Pitt took refuge in that miraculous field. He touched it and was safe; his creditors could not reach him. Four months later he did not need Parliamentary privilege any more, for the fall of the curtain upon his unnecessary life had signified that all was well with him again."

There is more than one Thomas Pitt, Democratic and Republican, in contemporary Washington.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The accounting profession has just released a report that in effect urges its members to produce financial statements that emphasize accuracy, reality, clarity, simplicity—that communicate rather than confuse.

The figure that counts most in a corporate financial statement, a nine-man study group indicated, is "cash in hand," real cash that is, in contrast to those profits that sometimes are produced on paper but cannot be demonstrated physically.

The thrust of this accounting report appears to be that financial statements should inform individual investors and other unsophisticated readers rather than just offer argot to the professionals.

That these goals, among many set down, should have to be spelled out seems extraordinary, and it is. But that's because many financial reports are extraordinary too.

Most extraordinary, in the view of those who have had to study these statements, is that they sometimes fail to communicate, which is the primary purpose of all words and numbers, even in a financial statement.

This might have been more calmly tolerated in the past, when the relatively few Americans with money to invest seemed satisfied to remain in a state of ignorance, relying on the wisdom of their broker or trust company.

But now this nation has many millions of shareholders. And while most of them still won't attempt to read a financial statement or an annual report, they aren't as willing to tolerate the condition. They want information.

In the absence of that information the stock market has suffered. Many individual investors were scarred by their own and their brokers' ignorance during the late 1960s, and they won't let it happen again.

The common reaction of such people has been to withdraw from the market and let the professionals play with each other's money. And so, after rising for two decades to more than 30 million, the shareholder population declined this year.

Unsophisticated investors won't buy if they read a report and conclude that, while all the figures seem to be in order, the overall picture is incorrect.

Has this been the case? Have they been deluded? You judge.

—The nation's largest railroad, the Penn Central, was just days away from collapse before some of its own directors and executives became fully aware of this alarming situation.

—Mutual fund managers bought stacks of letter stock, shares which could not readily be traded except to sophisticated investors, and then assigned to them a market price when no market existed.

—Land sales companies reported healthy profits because they included the full selling price in their statements even though they received only a small down payment, with no proof positive that the rest would be forthcoming.

—Franchisers reported instant, vigorous sales and earnings without selling any of the product. They sold franchises, or territorial rights to sell the product, but in some instances, the franchises never sold anything.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is surgery always necessary if the prostate gland becomes enlarged?

Mr. R. K., Tenn.

Dear Mr. K.:

The prostate gland generally becomes somewhat enlarged past the age of 40. Despite the enlargement, many men have no symptoms related to the enlargement of the gland. For them there is no need for treatment of any kind.

It is only when the enlargement of the prostate interferes with the normal process of urination that some form of treatment is suggested.

With marked enlargement, there may be frequent urination, especially during the night. Along with this may come the feeling that the bladder has not been completely emptied. Occasionally, there is some difficulty in beginning the flow of urine.

When enlargement of the prostate causes these or other urinary symptoms, massage of the gland may sometimes be effective. Surgery is performed when the symptoms are progressive and interfere considerably with urination. Miss D. R., Mass.

Dear Miss R.:

There are three different sets of salivary glands, three on each side of the face. Each pours the saliva that it manufactures through a tiny tube into the mouth.

Saliva is most important for the beginning of the digestion of food, which starts in the mouth.

Little stones may become deposited in these tubes and block the free flow of saliva. Ascertaining which gland is involved will determine where the swelling occurs.

It is natural to assume that the type of food one eats may be responsible for the formation of stones. This is not necessarily true. It is often difficult to determine why there is an occurrence of stones in the glands.

It is now possible to inject a dye into the salivary tube and study, by x-ray, the entire salivary system. Sometimes small uric acid crystals can block the tube in people who have a tendency to gout.

I have been told that I have endometriosis of the womb. Like all women I worry that this is cancerous. Is it?

Environment Study Pinpoints Worth

WASHINGTON (AP) — A five-year project to appraise nature in the same currency as a dam or canal has estimated fish and wildlife alone are worth a whopping $24 billion a year to recreation users in southeastern states.

Other areas of the country were not studied.

The study, due for release later this month, hands new ammunition to environment groups that feel the environmental costs of land and water development projects outweigh the economic benefits.

Economist Joseph Horvath, leader of the government-sponsored study, told a newsman the $24 billion estimate for the Southeast was, if anything, on the conservative side.

"You could go to the Supreme Court with this study, it is so thoroughly done," Horvath said in an interview. That is exactly where it may end up some day, as environment groups continue to file lawsuits to block federal construction projects.

Many projects, such as dams and other major public works, must by law be justified with proof that their benefits are greater than their costs.

But the intangible values of nature have been difficult to estimate in dollars, and therefore have been scarcely counted on the cost side of the cost-benefit equation.

Horvath, chairman of the Environmental Research Group at Georgia State University in Atlanta, said that when he took on the project in 1968 he had to find some way of estimating the dollar worth of environmental intangibles.

The result was the assignment of some 400 field interviewers to question 12,068 households from Maryland to eastern Texas and from Arkansas to Florida—roughly ten times the usual sampling of the established nationwide public opinion polls.

The survey searched out residents who customarily indulged in hunting, fishing, bird-watching or other forms of recreation that depend on fish and wildlife.

New Baby Delivered By Grandpa

SOUTH PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP) — When Vincent DeMartino saw his grandson for the first time, crying and red-faced, he couldn't have been happier.

He also couldn't have been more surprised because grandpa, a New York bartender better known to his patrons as "Vinnie," had just played a makeshift role of obstetrician.

There was almost no warning that the baby was due.

"My daughter felt a labor pain, so my wife went to call the doctor. She was barely on the phone when 'Pow!' here comes the baby," DeMartino said Sunday.

"She told the doctor 'I hear crying, but that can't be!' and I said 'Yes it can. Here he is!' By the time she hung up the phone and came back into the room, she was a grandmother!"

DeMartino was better prepared than most emergency obstetricians. He is an active member of the South Plainfield Rescue Squad. "This was the second time I was ever involved in delivering a baby, but of course, this one was different," he said.

When the doctor finally got to see Kenneth Michael Hamilton, 6 pounds, 9½ ounces, it was apparent grandpa had been an excellent substitute.

A Page Of Opinion

China's 'Rehabilitation'

Western observers trained in the vagaries of the Chinese have concluded that a new period of reconciliation and rehabilitation is going on in that vast country. The relatively moderate followers of Chou En-lai appear firmly in control of the political scene once again, and they are bringing back into public view some of the former luminaries who faded into obscurity or worse under the onslaught of the Red Guards.

Events at the recent 10th congress of the Chinese communist party support the contention. Twenty former high-ranking members of the ruling clique were "rehabilitated" back into public esteem. Reports add that all across China second echelon administrators who disappeared during the struggle for power have returned to their posts.

Not quite all is harmonious, however. The cultural scene, including literature and the performing arts, is still very much under the thumb of Chiang Ching, wife of Mao Tse-tung and a leader of the extremists.

At this point in history the bad actors in China really may be the actors.

The Days Of Walpole

By JEFFREY HART

No, I don't think it's a fine thing for a politician to be on the take or for corners to be cut in the electoral process, but isn't there something false and shrill about the tone being taken toward real and alleged political corruption these days?

Senator Lowell Weicker's endless expressions of horror, which always seem to begin "And do you mean to say..." suggest that he is the Senator not from Connecticut but from Mars. And wasn't the long duel ridiculous between Sam Dash and Patrick Buchanan over the question of whether it is proper for Buchanan, as a campaign aide, to draft an ad for some citizens' group? And how many angels do stand on the head of a pin, Mr. Dash?

Of course, actual corruption is to be condemned, but it is also civilizing to remember a thing or two.

If you asked a historian to name the most successful British Prime Ministers in terms of actual accomplishment there is no doubt that Sir Robert Walpole would stand at or near the top of the list.

Walpole was in power for some 20 years during the first half of the 18th century. He brought to England a stability it had not known since the death of Elizabeth in 1603. Until Walpole, England had possessed all the stability of a Serbia or an Iraq. Our notion of British gradualism and political common sense owes everything to Walpole's regime.

His economic policies also laid the foundation for British prosperity during the second half of the century and beyond. He devised and practiced the modern system of cabinet government.

Yet Sir Robert was also undoubtedly the most corrupt of all the Prime Ministers. John Gay's famous "Beggars' Opera" is a satire on the Walpole government. He came to power by openly buying the general election of 1722, going so far as to place ads in local newspapers stating exactly how much he would pay for a vote. He used court money, he dipped into secret service funds, and he had rich backers, like the Duke of Newcastle.

The duke, by the way, made long, slow, electoral tours, rarely sober, distributing largesse. When he spent some time in a borough, it seldom failed to return a Walpolean.

It has an eerie contemporary ring, but whenever a member raised a question in Parliament concerning Sir Robert's financial arts, the obese, apple-munching Walpole invariably quashed it with the reply: "secrets of state."

Then there are the much smaller fry. One of my favorite passages of historical writing comes from Sir Lewis Namier's "Structure of Politics at the Accession of George III," and it

concerns one Thomas Pitt:

"Thomas Pitt, the elder brother of Chatham, had entered Parliament in 1727, directly he came of age; he managed in Cornwall the general elections of 1741 and 1747 for Frederick, Prince of Wales, and saw himself in future next to the throne; but in 1751, with the death of his patron, his chances disappeared, while the fortune amassed by his grandfather of diamond fame had been wasted, even his credit exhausted; he had to give up Parliament, pawn his boroughs, and flee the country.

"In 1761, as a man old beyond his years, bare of all hope and full of insane bitterness and wild griefs, he once more had himself returned for the ploughed field of Old Sarum—the family's rotten borough—which his grandfather had bought with money acquired in India. Thomas Pitt took refuge in that miraculous field. He touched it and was safe; his creditors could not reach him. Four months later he did not need Parliamentary privilege any more, for the fall of the curtain upon his unnecessary life had signified that all was well with him again."

There is more than one Thomas Pitt, Democratic and Republican, in contemporary Washington.

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The accounting profession has just released a report that in effect urges its members to produce financial statements that emphasize accuracy, reality, clarity, simplicity—that communicate rather than confuse.

The figure that counts most in a corporate financial statement, a nine-man study group indicated, is "cash in hand," real cash that is, in contrast to those profits that sometimes are produced on paper but cannot be demonstrated physically.

The thrust of this accounting report appears to be that financial statements should inform individual investors and other unsophisticated readers rather than just offer argot to the professionals.

That these goals, among many set down, should have to be spelled out seems extraordinary, and it is. But that's because many financial reports are extraordinary too.

Most extraordinary, in the view of those who have had to study these statements, is that they sometimes fail to communicate, which is the primary purpose of all words and numbers, even in a financial statement.

This might have been more calmly tolerated in the past, when the relatively few Americans with money to invest seemed satisfied to remain in a state of ignorance, relying on the wisdom of their broker or trust company.

But now this nation has many millions of shareholders. And while most of them still won't attempt to read a financial statement or an annual report, they aren't as willing to tolerate the condition. They want information.

In the absence of that information the stock market has suffered. Many individual investors were scared by their own and their brokers' ignorance during the late 1960s, and they won't let it happen again.

The common reaction of such people has been to withdraw from the market and let the professionals play with each other's money. And so, after rising for two decades to more than 30 million, the shareholder population declined this year.

Unsophisticated investors won't buy if they read a report and conclude that, while all the figures seem to be in order, the overall picture is incorrect.

Has this been the case? Have they been deluded? You judge.

—The nation's largest railroad, the Penn Central, was just days away from collapse before some of its own directors and executives became fully aware of this alarming situation.

—Mutual fund managers bought stacks of letter stock, shares which could not readily be traded except to sophisticated investors, and then assigned to them a market price when no market existed.

—Land sales companies reported healthy profits because they included the full selling price in their statements even though they received only a small down payment, with no proof positive that the rest would be forthcoming.

—Franchisers reported instant, vigorous sales and earnings without selling any of the product. They sold franchises, or territorial rights to sell the product, but in some instances, the franchises never sold anything.

Speaking Of Your Health

Is surgery always necessary if the prostate gland becomes enlarged?
Mr. R. K., Tenn.

Dear Mr. K.:

The prostate gland generally becomes somewhat enlarged past the age of 40. Despite the enlargement, many men have no symptoms related to the enlargement of the gland. For them there is no need for treatment of any kind.

It is only when the enlargement of the prostate interferes with the normal process of urination that some form of treatment is suggested.

With marked enlargement, there may be frequent urination, especially during the night. Along with this may come the feeling that the bladder has not been completely emptied. Occasionally, there is some difficulty in beginning the flow of urine.

When enlargement of the prostate causes these or other urinary symptoms, massage of the gland may sometimes be effective. Surgery is performed when the symptoms are progressive and interfere considerably with urination. Cystoscopic examination gives a very exact picture of the size of the prostate, the condition of the urinary bladder, and then establishes the exact form of treatment.

Saxbe Still Makes Plans To Bow Out

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Despite urgings from Ohio Republican leaders, U.S. Sen. William Saxbe is expected to make it official in the next few days: he doesn't plan to seek re-election.

Kent McGough, Ohio Republican state chairman, said Monday he expects Saxbe to make the formal announcement soon.

McGough, in Cincinnati to meet with state GOP leaders, said U.S. Rep. William J. Keating of Cincinnati, Lt. Gov. John W. Brown and U.S. Rep. Clarence Brown Jr., head the list of candidates to fill the office.

A party primary would probably be held to decide on the candidate, McGough said.

Turning to the governor's race, McGough called Democrat John J. Gilligan "very vulnerable."

The state chairman charged Gilligan with a weakness in the area of economics.

"People just don't think they are getting their money's worth for their tax dollar," McGough said.

He named former Gov. James A. Rhodes and State Rep. Norman Murdock of Cincinnati as early GOP hopefuls.

McGough described Rhodes as "a strong candidate", but said he would be interested in seeing Murdock "test the waters."

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

Heavy fog began forming in low areas and river valleys early Monday night and had spread over most of the state by dawn this morning. The fog was expected to dissipate, leaving partly sunny, but hazy weather over the Buckeye State in the afternoon.

Temperatures just before sunrise were in the mid to upper 50s and humidity ranged between 90 to 100 per cent in most areas.

A relatively stationary, large high pressure area over the eastern United States brought a weak southerly flow of air into the state.

A cold front in the Plains States moved slowly east today, but was not expected to affect Ohio for several days.

Little change in the weather is expected through Wednesday, with mild temperatures continuing and little chance of rain. Fog is forecast again tonight for most of the state.

Niagara Rescue Effort Goes Awry

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Three young persons and a baby were stranded waist deep in swift-flowing water about 700 yards upstream from

Niagara Falls for 2½ hours Sunday before being rescued.

Before they were helped to safety, their boat went over the falls, a helicopter crashed, a patrol boat was lost to the cataract and six would-be rescuers wound up in the water.

Police at the Niagara Frontier State Park gave this sequence of events:

The outboard motor on a small boat conked out while Lee Sweitzer, 21, Jerry Land, 20, Joanne Horn, 21, and her son Michael, 1½, all from the Buffalo area, were cruising the upper Niagara River.

The boat drifted downstream toward rapids near Goat Island, and the passengers climbed out into waist-high water. They stood in one spot, not daring to move toward the island 150 yards away for fear of losing their footing in the current.

Their boat was swept over the crest of Niagara's Horseshoe Falls.

Park police took off in a sightseeing helicopter to attempt a rescue. But when one of the boaters grabbed the aircraft's skid as it hovered over them, the helicopter went out of control and crashed into the river.

The helicopter pilot and two police officers climbed out of the craft and, with the four others, clung to the wreckage for support.

Park authorities then sent a police powerboat out, but its outboard engine failed as the boat neared the group.

Two officers from the patrol boat made their way to the 'copter, but a third officer, the last to abandon the boat, was caught by the current. He drifted about 100 yards closer to the falls before being pulled ashore by a "human chain" of fellow police.

The boat went over the brink.

Finally, the end of a heavy cable was hurled to the nine in the water. They anchored the end to the helicopter, and inched along the line to shore.

Some of the officers were given oxygen, and the boaters were treated at a hospital for shock and exposure. But no one was reported seriously hurt.

Say Firman Recovering

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gordon "Spunky" Firman was listed in good condition Monday by officials of the Central Medical Center at Ohio Penitentiary.

Firman, the daring "barefoot bandit" who eluded posses for more than a month after escaping from prison in 1960, was shot four times Sunday when he tried to break out of the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility in Lucasville.

Hospital officials said he was shot in both arms, one leg and the chest.

Firman, now 34, climbed one of the fences around the prison and was caught another when he was brought down by a shotgun blast, officials said.

In 1961, Firman knotted together 70 yards of sheets in another abortive attempt to escape from prison.

Vinton School Parents Set Columbus Talks On Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A group of parents angry about the four-week-old Vinton County school strike planned to head for Columbus today to talk to Gov. John J. Gilligan and Public Instruction Supt. Martin Essex.

A spokesman said the group hoped to meet with the officials either during or after a gathering on the steps of the state capitol building at 11 a.m.

OSPE Slates Meeting On Transportation

The Southern Ohio Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers will meet at Gaslight Inn, Hopetown, 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Host Jim Barnhart has scheduled a meeting about transportation. William Baker, deputy director of Division of Highways of the Ohio Department of Transportation will be the speaker.

Local Driver Adds To Safety Record

W. K. Salyers, Route 4, is among the Columbus-based transport operators for Consolidated Freightways who have accomplished an outstanding safety record.

He is one of 48 drivers who have traveled 2,123,500 consecutive miles without an accident.

Tonight, the Parents Committee of the Vinton County School District planned a meeting at McArthur to talk over possible ways of ending the crisis.

These developments came after the firing of buckshot and the tossing of a firebomb intensified the Vinton County problem during the weekend.

Bill McNickle, president of the teachers' organization, quoted two teachers are saying someone fired buckshot through their windows. No one was injured.

McNickle said a firebomb was thrown at a jeep parked in his driveway but that it caused only minor damage.

A spokesman for the parents group said the meeting tonight resulted from a decision by School Supt. Kenneth Christopher not to close the schools, which he considered.

Eighty-seven teachers walked off their jobs a month ago in a dispute over dismissal policies and grievance procedures. Subsequently, the school board invoked the state's Ferguson Act which prohibits strikes by public employees. The striking teachers were tired, and Christopher refused to negotiate with them.

Christopher announced a decision to close the schools after one meeting with parents. He changed his mind, after meeting with school board members and a group opposed to closing them.

At LaBree, in Trumbull County, the school board voted Monday night to authorize the prosecutor to take whatever action may be needed to get striking teachers there back on the job.

Temperatures just before sunrise were in the mid to upper 50s and humidity ranged between 90 to 100 per cent in most areas.

A relatively stationary, large high pressure area over the eastern United States brought a weak southerly flow of air into the state.

A cold front in the Plains States moved slowly east today, but was not expected to affect Ohio for several days.

Little change in the weather is expected through Wednesday, with mild temperatures continuing and little chance of rain. Fog is forecast again tonight for most of the state.

Niagara Rescue Effort Goes Awry

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Three young persons and a baby were stranded waist deep in swift-flowing water about 700 yards upstream from

Niagara Falls for 2½ hours Sunday before being rescued.

Before they were helped to safety, their boat went over the falls, a

Vinton School Parents Set Columbus Talks On Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A group of parents angry about the four-week-old Vinton County school strike planned to head for Columbus today to talk to Gov. John J. Gilligan and Public Instruction Supt. Martin Essex.

A spokesman said the group hoped to meet with the officials either during or after a gathering on the steps of the state capitol building at 11 a.m.

OSPE Slates Meeting On Transportation

The Southern Ohio Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers will meet at Gaslight Inn, Hopetown, 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Host Jim Barnhart has scheduled a meeting about transportation. William Baker, deputy director of Division of Highways of the Ohio Department of Transportation will be the speaker.

Local Driver Adds To Safety Record

W. K. Salyers, Route 4, is among the Columbus-based transport operators for Consolidated Freightways who have accomplished an outstanding safety record.

He is one of 48 drivers who have traveled 2,123,500 consecutive miles without an accident.

Tonight, the Parents Committee of the Vinton County School District planned a meeting at McArthur to talk over possible ways of ending the crisis.

These developments came after the firing of buckshot and the tossing of a firebomb intensified the Vinton County problem during the weekend.

Bill McNickle, president of the teachers' organization, quoted two teachers are saying someone fired buckshot through their windows. No one was injured.

McNickle said a firebomb was thrown at a jeep parked in his driveway but that it caused only minor damage.

A spokesman for the parents group said the meeting tonight resulted from a decision by School Supt. Kenneth Christopher not to close the schools, which he considered.

Eighty-seven teachers walked off their jobs a month ago in a dispute over dismissal policies and grievance procedures. Subsequently, the school board invoked the state's Ferguson Act which prohibits strikes by public employees. The striking teachers were fired, and Christopher refused to negotiate with them.

Christopher announced a decision to close the schools after one meeting with parents. He changed his mind, after meeting with school board members and a group opposed to closing them.

At LaBrac, in Trumbull County, the school board voted Monday night to authorize the prosecutor to take whatever action may be needed to get striking teachers there back on the job.

helicopter crashed, a patrol boat was lost to the cataract and six would-be rescuers wound up in the water.

Police at the Niagara Frontier State Park gave this sequence of events:

The outboard motor on a small boat conked out while Lee Sweitzer, 21, Jerry Land, 20, Joanne Horn, 21, and her son Michael, 1½, all from the Buffalo area, were cruising the upper Niagara River.

The boat drifted downstream toward rapids near Goat Island, and the passengers climbed out into waist-high water. They stood in one spot, not daring to move toward the island 150 yards away for fear of losing their footing in the current.

Their boat was swept over the crest of Niagara's Horseshoe Falls.

Park police took off in a sightseeing helicopter to attempt a rescue. But when one of the boaters grabbed the aircraft's skid as it hovered over them, the helicopter went out of control and crashed into the river.

The helicopter pilot and two police officers climbed out of the craft and, with the four others, clung to the wreckage for support.

Park authorities then sent a police powerboat out, but its outboard engine failed as the boat neared the group.

Two officers from the patrol boat made their way to the 'copter, but a third officer, the last to abandon the boat, was caught by the current. He drifted about 100 yards closer to the falls before being pulled ashore by a "human chain" of fellow police.

The boat went over the brink.

Finally, the end of a heavy cable was hurled to the nine in the water. They anchored the end to the helicopter, and inched along the line to shore.

Some of the officers were given oxygen, and the boaters were treated at a hospital for shock and exposure. But no one was reported seriously hurt.

Say Firman Recovering

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Gordon "Spunky" Firman was listed in good condition Monday by officials of the Central Medical Center at Ohio Penitentiary.

Firman, the daring "barefoot bandit" who eluded posess for more than a month after escaping from prison in 1960, was shot four times Sunday when he tried to break out of the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility in Lucasville.

Hospital officials said he was shot in both arms, one leg and the chest.

Firman, now 34, climbed one of the fences around the prison and was caging another when he was brought down by a shotgun blast, officials said.

In 1961, Firman knotted together 70 yards of sheets in another abortive attempt to escape from prison.

Child Conservation League Has Program On Group Homes

Child Conservation League met recently in the home of Mrs. William Richards. Mrs. Robert McKelvey, president, conducted discussion of business. Mrs. Richards, secretary, read a letter from the AAUW organization asking for League's support of a National Reading Program. After discussion it was decided to contribute to this worthy cause to stimulate the love of reading in children who might not otherwise have access to books.

Mrs. Paul Teejardin, ways and means chairman, reported that the garage sale was a success. She reminded members they are to sell baskets of geraniums in May and to have requests for pink ones in by the November meeting.

Mrs. Marie Gibson Hosts Garden Club

Mrs. Marie Gibson was hostess for the October meeting of Deercreek Garden Club at her home on Alkire Road. Under the direction of Leora Sayre, discussion was held on the "New Activity Year" and "The Good Old Days."

Each member received a copy of the program for the coming year using the theme "Securing And Sharing Knowledge." Roll call was answered by telling what's doing now, with and for the garden.

As sunshine chairman, Della Lemmings reported a plant was sent to Elsie Wright when recuperating from an illness. Mrs. Gibson volunteered to serve as chairman for Oct. 17th to assist with the Pumpkin Show Flower Show.

Highlights of the recent annual Gardener's Day Out at Don Scott Field on the campus of the Ohio State University were given by Beatrice Bumgarner and Mrs. Gibson. Mrs. Bumgarner who served as the club's voting delegate at the 43rd Annual Convention of Ohio Assn. of Garden Clubs, reported on the well attended event held on the campus of Wooster College.

"Multiply And Divide" was the subject of the program by Mrs. Bumgarner. She gave many precautions and procedures to use in increasing garden quantity and pleasure via bulbs, vines and other types of plant life.

In the plant life hour during which refreshments were served, Ilo Stevenson won the door prize, an illustrated Herb Chart and Rose Horsch and Vandalia Corcoran led a discussion on safety measures.

Mrs. William Cline Feted With Shower

A miscellaneous shower for Mrs. William Howard Cline of Concord, Calif. was held recently in the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Richard Crawford, 503 E. Mound St.

The gift table, decorated in red, white and blue streamers with white bells suspended from the ceiling, was placed in the center of the room.

Others present were: Miss Gertrude Cline, Raleigh, N.C.; Mrs. Harold Wolford, Mrs. Rosemary Flowers, Mrs. Robert Cline, Mrs. Florence Wise, Mrs. Erma Iles, Miss Marcella Cline, Mrs. Hazel Cline, Mrs. Eileen Osborn, Cheryl Lyn Crawford, Jeanie Crawford, Mrs. Maxine Gerlach.

Mrs. Nellie Mumaw, Mrs. Dick Zahard, Mrs. Lenith Millirons, Mrs. Pauline Jones, Mrs. Phyllis Walker, Tonie Hill, Mrs. Charlotte Hill, Mrs. Gary Iles, all of Circleville; Mrs. Ruth Holbrook of Kingston and Mrs. Mable Koch of Ashville.

Gifts were sent by Mrs. Agnes Ragland and Mrs. Gary Phiefer of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holbrook of Chillicothe, and Mrs. Virgil Holbrook of Kingston.

Games played were won by Rosemary Flowers, Gertrude Cline and Mrs. Dick Zahard, who gave them to the bride.

Refreshments of cup cakes, ice cream, mints, nuts and fruit punch were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Ruth Holbrook and Mrs. Dick Zahard.

Circleville Art League Plans Annual Show

Circleville Art League's annual Pumpkin Show Exhibit will begin

Ohio PTA Nixes Stand On Busing

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Parent Teachers Association convention has rejected the national PTA's stand opposing busing of school children to achieve racial balance.

Ohio's PTA was the first state organization to vote on the resolution which was approved by the National PTA convention last May. The national resolution supporting a U.S. constitutional amendment to prevent involuntary assignment of students must be ratified by 31 states before it can become a part of the national PTA legislative program.

The Ohio convention delegates debated the issue for 40 minutes Monday before defeating the proposal by a vote of 662 to 262.

Some delegates said they feared the amendment would be a step toward federal government control of local school boards. Others said they were confused over the meaning of the amendment.

Many said they had come to the convention expecting to ratify the amendment according to recommendations by their local units. But they said information they had been given was misleading and they ended by voting with their own consciences.

One delegate said "everyone had a different interpretation of the amendment."

Business News

Philip F. Searle, president and chief executive officer of BancOhio Corporation, announced today that an application to acquire Midwest Econometrics, Inc., of Columbus, has been filed with the Federal Reserve Board of Governors.

The agreement with Wilford L. L'Esperance, Ph.D., professor of economics at Ohio State University and president of Midwest Econometrics, provides for a cash purchase of shares of Midwest Econometrics by BancOhio.

Midwest Econometrics, located at 3857 North High Street in Columbus, is an economic forecasting and consulting service with a broad range of market area studies such as regional data banks and regional econometric models.

Searle said that according to the agreement, Dr. L'Esperance, Barbara L'Esperance and James W. Wentling, vice president-economist and director of marketing for BancOhio, will serve as Directors of Midwest Econometrics. The Second National Bank of Ohio is an affiliate of BancOhio Corporation.

Airport Study Late

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Cameron Smith, executive director of the Lake Erie Regional Transportation Authority (LERTA), says a feasibility study for a regional jetport will not be completed until next April—two months behind schedule.

Sunday and will be on display at Pickaway County Court House two weeks.

Judging will be Sunday afternoon followed by the critique at 4 p.m.

Members are reminded to please bring work to the Court House from 10 a.m. to noon Saturday.

The well known artist Robert Alan Gough of Chillicothe will judge the show. 5-Story Fall By 2-Year Old Brings Bruise

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Mary Kennedy says she's known since "the day he was born" that her son Timothy was lucky.

But she didn't know until Monday just how lucky he was.

The 22-month-old child fell five stories from the Kennedys' balcony apartment, landed on a clump of grass beside a concrete sidewalk, and escaped with a bruised shoulder.

"The doctor said he must have had an angel going down with him," said Mrs. Kennedy.

She said the child apparently crawled out of his crib while she was in the kitchen, opened the sliding door to the balcony and slipped through the bars on the railing.

Knight Rank Conferred By K Of P Lodge

Knight rank was conferred upon Kenneth Julian of Circleville Philos Lodge 64, Knights of Pythians, and Tom Mouser of Delaware Lenape Lodge 28, Monday during the lodge meeting here.

It was announced during the business session the local lodge will have a float in the Pumpkin Show Parade and will make arrangements for a drill team to be in the parade Oct. 19. All members are asked to meet at the beginning of the parade route 7:30 p.m. Oct. 19.

Visitors at Monday's meeting were: O. B. Storts, Canal Winchester; Mat Levy, New York, N.Y.; Carl Cook, Delaware; John Swingle, Ashville; Ed Irwin, Ashville; Thomas E. Mills II, Columbus; Ned Noble, Stoutsville; Chester R. Hazelton, Delaware; John Reed Stoutsville; Harold Bumgarner, Ashville.

Lunch was served following the meeting.

Owens-Corning Earnings 2nd Best

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The president of Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. says earnings for the period July 1 to Sept. 30, 1973 were $11.7 million.

William W. Boeschstein said it was the second best quarter in company history. Boeschstein said the gains were due to high demand for housing insulation and fiberglass for automobiles and tires.

Third quarter earnings represented 79 cents per share, he said.

Last year, third quarter earnings were $9 million or 61 cents per share, 30 per cent below this year's figure.

Where are they going without more energy?

High school and college graduates swell America's total work force by over a million people each year. They want jobs. They deserve jobs. They're willing and able.

But every job in America depends, in one way or another, on energy. And as our available supplies of energy dwindle, so will the number of jobs. America needs enough energy supplies to support the economic growth that creates more jobs, for more people.

But all primary forms of energy that industry needs — gas, oil, coal, nuclear — are already in short supply. And things will only get worse unless the urgency for corrective action is recognized in government and by the public.

The most badly needed action is revision of the unrealistic regulations and environmental procedures that are frustrating needed energy supply development.

You can help by learning more about the energy crisis and supporting efforts to provide America with enough energy supplies to meet all its needs, including jobs for the future.

Columbia Gas is spending millions to help solve the energy crisis. We're currently delivering natural gas from wells in a limited area of the Gulf of Mexico. We must develop additional supplies in the Gulf and in the Atlantic Ocean, where surveys indicate a large amount of valuable natural gas lies buried deep beneath the waters.

Ohio PTA Nixes Stand On Busing

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Ohio Parent Teachers Association convention has rejected the national PTA's stand opposing busing of school children to achieve racial balance.

Ohio's PTA was the first state organization to vote on the resolution which was approved by the National PTA convention last May. The national resolution supporting a U.S. constitutional amendment to prevent involuntary assignment of students must be ratified by 31 states before it can become a part of the national PTA legislative program.

The Ohio convention delegates debated the issue for 40 minutes Monday before defeating the proposal by a vote of 662 to 262.

Some delegates said they feared the amendment would be a step toward federal government control of local school boards. Others said they were confused over the meaning of the amendment.

Many said they had come to the convention expecting to ratify the amendment according to recommendations by their local units. But they said information they had been given was misleading and they ended by voting with their own consciences.

One delegate said "everyone had a different interpretation of the amendment."

Business News

Philip F. Searle, president and chief executive officer of BancOhio Corporation, announced today that an application to acquire Midwest Econometrics, Inc., of Columbus, has been filed with the Federal Reserve Board of Governors.

The agreement with Wilford L. L'Esperance, Ph.D., professor of economics at Ohio State University and president of Midwest Econometrics, provides for a cash purchase of shares of Midwest Econometrics by BancOhio.

Midwest Econometrics, located at 3857 North High Street in Columbus, is an economic forecasting and consulting service with a broad range of market area studies such as regional data banks and regional econometric models.

Searle said that according to the agreement, Dr. L'Esperance, Barbara L'Esperance and James W. Wentling, vice president-economist and director of marketing for BancOhio, will serve as Directors of Midwest Econometrics. The Second National Bank of Ohio is an affiliate of BancOhio Corporation.

Few Changes Made In Football Poll

NEW YORK (AP) — Ohio State and its six closest pursuers held onto their positions today in The Associated Press college football ratings while Tulane, Kansas and Miami of Ohio joined the Top Twenty for the first time this season.

In their second week since replacing Southern California as the No. 1 ranked team in the country, the Ohio State Buckeyes trounced Washington State 27-3 and received 41 first-place votes and 1,150 points from the 61 sports writers and broadcasters who participated in this week's AP poll.

Nebraska crushed Minnesota 48-7 and got nine first-place votes and 1,032 points. The Cornhuskers thus narrowed last week's margin, which had Ohio State on top 1,118-897.

Alabama remained third with six first-place ballots and 876 points by defeating Georgia 28-14, while Southern Cal turned back Oregon State 21-7 and held onto fourth with one top vote and 782 points.

Michigan, No. 5, received one No. 1 vote and 697 points for a 24-0 win over Oregon. Oklahoma didn't receive any first-place votes but stayed in sixth place with 632 points after downing Miami of Florida 24-20.

The other three first-place votes went to Penn State, which beat Air Force 19-9 and earned 620 points.

Rain Washes Out A's Orioles Game

OAKLAND (AP) — Baseball's defending world champion Oakland Athletics feel they were double-crossed by rain in their own ballpark.

They claim it acted to Baltimore's advantage in their American League playoff series when the third game was postponed Monday.

"We had 'em on the run, the champs were coming back," outfielder Reggie Jackson declared. "Now they have Jim Palmer again."

The Orioles' ace righthander, 22-9 in the regular season, blanked Oakland 6-0 in the opening game Saturday before the A's came back to beat Baltimore and Dave McNally 6-3 on Sunday.

With rain causing the postponement, Manager Earl Weaver gets to use his Palmer Wednesday in game No. 4 of this best-of-5 league championship series.

Roy Campanella won the National League "most valuable player" award three times — 1951, 1953 and 1955.

Reds Win Brawl, Lose Game 9-2

NEW YORK (AP) — After some belts from Rusty Staub and a couple from Bud Harrelson, too, the Cincinnati Reds are on the brink of a knockout.

Staub hit two home runs and Harrelson hit Pete Rose in a brawl-filled game Monday in which the New York Mets beat the Reds 9-2 and took a 2-1 lead in this best-of-five playoff series to determine baseball's National League representative in the World Series.

Staub's homers drove in four runs, but it was Harrelson's battle with Rose that literally drove the Reds from the field in one of the most bizarre playoff affairs in history.

The final score, despite its importance, was almost anticlimactic after what happened in the fifth inning.

A crowd of 53,967 was buzzing with an apparent New York victory, loudly cheering their Shea Stadium heroes as the Mets forged a 9-2 lead after four innings.

Then came the fifth, when Rose barreled into Harrelson in an attempt to break up a double play at second base.

"He hit me with his elbow," Harrelson said after the explosive game. "I'm tired of being used as a punching bag."

The Mets' gutsy little shortstop said something to the burly Rose. The Cincinnati left fielder gave Harrelson a shove and the two exchanged blows, fell to the ground and tussled in the

Washington Tops Cowboys In 14-7 Game

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ken Houston says he figured the Dallas Cowboys would be trying to pass to their running back Walt Garrison on fourth down and only seconds left, so the Washington Redskins' safety knew it was his job to stop him.

"I was looking for that play because our rush had been so good," said Houston after the Redskins defeated the Cowboys 14-7 in a nationally televised National Football League game Monday night.

"They had been trying to hit the left flank. I saw him (Dallas quarterback Craig Morton) pump once and I stepped up and was going to hit him."

"As strong as he is, if he had got his feet on the ground, he would have gone on in. I just caught him before he was able to plant his feet and drove him back," said Houston.

Houston stopped Garrison at the one-yard line to preserve the Washington victory.

The Redskins, shut out until the last four minutes, scored two quick touchdowns on a one-yard pass from Sonny Jurgensen to Charley Taylor and a Brig Owens' 26-yard return of an intercepted pass.

Despite the pandemonium that broke out after the Owens' touchdown, which came with 2:33 left, the Cowboys recovered a fumbled punt on the Redskins 31 with less than two minutes remaining.

Morton moved the ball to the Redskins' four with 38 seconds left but was unsuccessful on his first three passes until he completed the fourth down aerial to Garrison on the one with 16 seconds remaining.

Redskins' Coach George Allen, who had been saying all week the contest would be the championship game, said he felt "just as happy as New Year's Eve."

Houston stopped Garrison at the one-yard line to preserve the Washington victory.

The Redskins, shut out until the last four minutes, scored two quick touchdowns on a one-yard pass from Sonny Jurgensen to Charley Taylor and a Brig Owens' 26-yard return of an intercepted pass.

Despite the pandemonium that broke out after the Owens' touchdown, which came with 2:33 left, the Cowboys recovered a fumbled punt on the Redskins' 31 with less than two minutes remaining.

Morton moved the ball to the Redskins' four with 38 seconds left but was unsuccessful on his first three passes until he completed the fourth down aerial to Garrison on the one with 16 seconds remaining.

Redskins' Coach George Allen, who had been saying all week the contest would be the championship game, said he felt "just as happy as New Year's Eve."

McGovern Group Fought Caucus

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — In quiet aftermath of their 1972 shellacking, liberal Democrats who backed U.S. Sen. George McGovern in Ohio have formed a Progressive Democratic Caucus to pursue liberal issues.

Members of the new group — modeled after similar groups formed in other states — stress their commitment to liberal issues, rather than to McGovern himself.

“There is no relationship with McGovern whatsoever,” said Roy Leib, a Cleveland attorney who helped found the caucus. “Most of us supported McGovern, but because he supported certain ideas.”

Leib also dismissed the suggestion

the caucus is a youthful continuation of the McGovern campaign — staffed by the stereotyped McGovern supporter in politics for the first time.

The Ohioans met recently with representatives of similar reform groups in seven other states—Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota and California.

At the meeting in Chicago, the delegates laid plans for future gatherings and drafted a statement rebuking national party Chairman Robert Stauss. The group said Stauss had urged “Democrats” in Congress to abandon their constitutional role in evaluating a vice presidential nominee.”

Leib, 58, said the caucus traces its lineage back to the mid-1960s. He said similar groups emerged in many states after the unsuccessful runs of Eugene McCarthy and Bobby Kennedy.

“We are considered a reform wing by some, dismissed as dissidents by others,” he said. “Whether party leaders consider us as a branch of the party I don’t know.”

Members of the caucus are Democrats, he said. The local clubs—including groups in Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown, Columbus and Bowling Green — are all flavored by Democratic commitment.

“We are not chartered,” Leib said,

“and we don’t expect to be.”

Leib said the group will try to serve as a coordinator between local clubs and on statewide issues for the most part. But the group already has made moves beyond the state level.

Although the reform groups in most of the other states were formed as chapters in the national New Democratic Coalition, Leib said the Ohioans plan to remain as independent as possible.

Similarly, local groups in Ohio—such as the 23rd Congressional District Caucus in Cleveland—will retain their individual identity, he said.

The caucus “will be a statewide coordinating body,” he said.

ABA Rule Change Voids Nicklaus Gives Purse To Charity

NEW YORK (AP) — American Basketball Association officials are comparing their new rule change, which will prohibit players from fouling out, with the American League’s experiment with the designated hitter in baseball.

“There were a lot of complaints about the designated hitter when it first started, but now everyone thinks it’s a great idea,” said ABA Commissioner Mike Storen after the rule was adopted Monday for the 1973-74 season by the ABA trustees. “The same was true when basketball did away with the center jump. We hope this ruling will work out as favorably as the other innovative ideas have.”

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP)— Jack Nicklaus unemotionally romped over his rivals in the $125,000 Ohio Kings Island Open. He emotionally turned down a $25,000 payday.

“I don’t accept the purse,” said Nicklaus, whose final 72 gave him a four-round total of 271, 13 under par and six shots ahead of runnerup Lee Trevino.

Nicklaus announced he was setting up a $20,000 Ohio State University scholarship in the name of his late father, Columbus, Ohio, pharmacist Charles Nicklaus.

The other $5,000 went to the Boy Scouts of America, the charity benefiting from all of the proceeds of his new tour event at the Nicklaus Golf Center.

Cleveland Browns Get Chuck Hutchinson

CLEVELAND (AP)—Lineman Chuck Hutchinson is scheduled to join the Cleveland Browns today to replace injured rookie lineman Pete Adams.

Hutchinson is a 6 foot-3, 258-pound guard with three years pro experience. He was cut from the St. Louis Cardinals late in camp and has been a free agent because he was not picked up on waivers.

While Storen is bubbling over with enthusiasm, the rest of the league is not quite so ebullient.

The change, which will ignore the six-fouls-and-you’re-out rule still followed in the National Basketball Association, will keep the superstar in the game longer.

Under the new rules, after a player accumulates his seventh foul, the other team gets the appropriate number of foul shots and also retains possession of the ball.

(Amended House Joint Resolution No. 13)

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend section 36 of Article II of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to authorize agricultural land to be valued for taxation in accordance with its current use.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1973, a proposal to amend section 36 of Article II of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE II

Section 36. Laws may be passed to encourage forestry and agriculture, and to that end areas devoted exclusively to forestry may be exempted, in whole or in part, from taxation. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 2 of Article XII, laws may be passed to provide that land devoted exclusively to agricultural use be valued for real property tax purposes at the current value such land has for such agricultural use. Laws may also be passed to provide for the deferral or recoupment of any part of the difference in the dollar amount of real property tax levied in any year on land valued in accordance with its agricultural use and the dollar amount of real property tax which would have been levied upon such land had it been valued for such year in accordance with its agricultural use. Laws may also be passed to provide for converting into forest reserves such lands or parts of lands as the state may be forfeited to the state, and to authorize the acquiring of other lands for that purpose, and, to provide for the conservation of the natural resources of the state, including streams, lakes, submerged and swamp lands and the development and regulation of water power and the formation of drainage and conservation districts, and to provide for the regulation of methods of mining, weighing, measuring and marketing coal, oil, gas and all other minerals.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL

If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment the amendment shall take effect January 1, 1974, and existing section 36 of Article II of the Constitution of Ohio shall be repealed from such effective date.

(Amended Senate Joint Resolution No. 9)

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend section 8 of Article XII of the Constitution of the State of Ohio relative to the determination of the amount of income exempt from taxation.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1973, a proposal to amend section 8 of Article XII of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE XII

Section 8. Laws may be passed providing for the taxation of incomes, and such taxation may be either uniform or graduated and may be designated by law; but a part of each annual income as provided by law may be exempt from such taxation.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL

If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment shall take effect immediately on the existing section 8 of Article XII of the Constitution of Ohio shall be repealed from such effective date.

(Amended Senate Joint Resolution No. 30)

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend sections 1, 4, 5, and 6 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of Ohio, relative to administration and organization of the courts of Ohio.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1973, a proposal to amend sections 1, 4, 5, and 6 of Article IV of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE IV

Section 1. The judicial power of the state is vested in a supreme court, courts of appeals, courts of common pleas and divisions thereof, and such other courts inferior to the supreme court, to be created from time to time be established by law.

Section 4. (A) There shall be a court of common pleas and such divisions thereof as may be established by law serving each county of the state. Any judge of a court of common pleas or a division thereof may temporarily hold court in any county. In the interests of the fair, impartial, speedy, and sure administration of justice, and county shall have one or more resident judges, or two or more residents may be combined into districts having one or more resident judges in the district and serving the common pleas courts of all counties in the district, as may be provided by law. Judges of a district shall sit in each county in the district as the business of the court requires. In counties or districts having more than one judge of the court of common pleas, the judges shall select one of their number to act as presiding judge, to serve at their pleasure. If the judges are unable because of equal division of the vote to make such selection, the judge having the longest total service on the court of common pleas shall serve as presiding judge until elected by vote. The presiding judge shall have such duties and exercise such powers as are prescribed by rule of the supreme court.

(B) The courts of common pleas and divisions thereof shall have such original jurisdiction over all justiciable matters and such power of review of proceedings of administrative officers and agencies as may be provided by law.

(C) Unless otherwise provided by law, there shall be a probate division and such other divisions of the courts of common pleas as may be provided by law. Judges shall be elected specifically to such probate division and to such other divisions of the courts of common pleas. The judges of the probate division shall be empowered to employ and control the clerks, employees, deputies, and referees of the common pleas courts.

Section 5. (A) (1) In addition to all other powers vested by this article in the supreme court, the supreme court shall have general superintendence over all courts in the state. Such general superintending power shall be exercised by the chief justice in accordance with rules promulgated by the supreme court.

(2) The supreme court shall appoint an administrative director who shall assist the chief justice and who shall serve at the pleasure of the court. The compensation and duties of the administrative director shall be determined by the court.

(3) The chief justice or acting chief justice, as necessity arises shall assign any judge of a court of common pleas or a division thereof temporarily to sit or hold court on any other court of common pleas or division thereof or any court of appeals or shall assign any judge of a court of appeals temporarily to sit or hold court on any other court of common pleas or division thereof or any such assignment said judge shall serve in such assigned capacity until the termination of the assignment. Rules may be adopted to provide for the temporary assignment of judges to sit and hold court in any court established by law.

(B) The supreme court shall prescribe rules governing practice and procedure in all courts of the state, which rules shall not be amended, enlarged, or modified, any substantive right. Proposed rules shall be filed by the court, not later than the fifth day of January with the clerk of each house of the general assembly during a regular session thereof, and amendments to any such proposed rules may be filed not later than the first day of May in that session. Such rules shall take effect on the following first day of July, unless prior to such day the general assembly adopts a concurrent resolution of disapproval. All laws in conflict with such rules shall be of no further force or effect after such rules have taken effect.

Courts may adopt additional rules concerning local practice in their respective courts which are not inconsistent with the rules promulgated by the supreme court. The supreme court may make rules to require uniform record keeping for all courts of the state and to make rules governing the admission to the practice of law and discipline of persons so admitted.

(C) The chief justice of the supreme court or any judge of that court designated by him shall pass upon the disqualification of any judge of the courts of appeals or courts of common pleas or division thereof. Rules may be adopted to provide for the hearing of disqualification matters involving judges of courts established by law.

Section 6. (A) (1) The chief justice and the justices of the supreme court shall be elected by the electors of the state at large, for terms of not less than six years.

(2) The judges of the courts of common pleas and the divisions thereof shall be elected by the electors of the counties, districts, or cities, to be provided by law, or subdivisions, in which their respective courts are located, for terms of not less than six years, and each judge of a court of common pleas or division thereof shall reside during his term of office in the county, district or subdivision in which his court is located.

(4) Terms of office of all judges shall begin on the days fixed by law, and laws shall be enacted to prescribe the times and mode of their election.

(B) The judges of the supreme court, courts of appeals, courts of common pleas and divisions thereof, and of all courts of record established by law, shall, at stated times, receive, for their services and compensation as may be provided by law, which shall not be diminished during their term of office. The compensation of all judges of the supreme court, except that of the chief justice, shall be the same. The compensation of all judges of the courts of appeals shall be the same. Common pleas judges and judges of divisions thereof, and judges of all courts of record established by law shall receive such compensation as may be provided by law. Judges shall receive no fees or perquisites, or hold any other office of profit or trust, under the authority of this state, or of the United States. All votes for any judge for any elective office, except a judicial office, under the authority of this state, given by the general assembly, or the people shall be void.

(C) No person shall be elected or appointed to any judicial office if on or before the day when he shall assume the office and enter upon the discharge of its duties he shall have attained the age of seventy years. Any voluntarily retired judge, or any judge who is retired under this section, may be assigned with his consent by the chief justice or acting chief justice of the supreme court to active duty as a judge and while so serving shall receive the established compensation for such office, computed upon a per diem basis, in addition to any retirement benefits to which he may be entitled. Laws may be passed providing retirement benefits for judges.

SCHEDULE

The above proposal shall be placed on the official ballot at the election herein before referred to in essentially the following manner:

Yes	Shall Sections 1, 4, 5, and 6 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of Ohio be amended to provide for establishment of divisions of the Courts of Common Pleas, to permit the organization of Courts of Common Pleas into districts and to provide for inclusion of all Judges of Courts of Record within the terms and conditions of existing Article IV, Section 6 (B) relative to prohibiting Judges from holding any other office of profit or trust under authority of this State, or of the United States, prohibiting compensation from being diminished during term of office, and prohibiting Judges from receiving any fees or perquisites.
No	If a majority of the electors voting on the foregoing proposed amendment at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1973, adopt the same, it shall become part of the Constitution of Ohio and existing sections 1, 4, 5, and 6 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of Ohio shall be repealed.

(Amended Substitute House Joint Resolution No. 1)

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to adopt section 2) of Article VIII of the Constitution of the state of Ohio to provide for compensation for military service during the period of the Vietnam conflict through the proceeds from the sale of state general obligation bonds.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members of each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, in the manner prescribed by law, at a special election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1973, a proposal to adopt section 2) of Article VIII of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE VIII

Section 2. The board of commissioners created by section 8 of Article VIII of the Constitution of Ohio shall, forthwith upon the adoption of this amendment, proceed to issue and sell, from time to time, bonds or notes of the state in such amounts of face value as are necessary to provide the funds, or such part thereof, as may be required to pay the compensation and the expenses of administering this section. The aggregate value of bonds or notes so issued shall not exceed three hundred million dollars. The full faith and credit of the state is hereby pledged to the payment of such bonds or notes.

All bonds or notes so issued shall mature in not more than fifteen years from the date of their issue, and shall be payable in not more than two years after the respective dates thereof. The bonds or notes shall mature according to schedules set forth by the commissioners, but shall not mature more than fifteen years after the date of issue. No bonds or notes shall be issued or bear dates later than the first day of April, 1977.

All bonds or notes shall bear interest at such rates as the commissioners determine and shall be payable semiannually. Such bonds or notes, and the interest thereon are exempt from all taxes levied by the state or any taxing district thereof. At the option of the commissioners, the bonds or notes may be issued subject to call on any interest payment date at par and accrued interest.

All sales of such bonds or notes by the commissioners shall be in accordance with such regulations as the commission adopts and promulgates. Such bonds or notes shall be sold only to the highest qualified bidders after notice of sale has been published once each week for three consecutive weeks on the same day of each week, the first of such notices being published at least twenty-one full days before the date of sale, in a newspaper of general circulation in each of the eight most populous counties in the state. Notices shall state the day, hour and place of the sale, the total face value of the bonds or notes to be sold, their denominations, dates, and the dates of their maturity. Information relative to the rates of interest that the bonds or notes will bear, and the dates upon which interest will be payable. The commissioners may reject any or all bids and re-advertise and re-offer bonds or notes for sale.

Out of the proceeds of the sale of all bonds or notes, that amount that represents accrued interest, if any, shall be paid into the state treasury and a fund to be known as the Vietnam Conflict Compensation Bond Retirement Fund, and the balance shall be paid into the state treasury and a fund to be known as the Vietnam Conflict Compensation Fund. The General Assembly may appropriate and cause to be paid out of the Vietnam Conflict Compensation Bond Retirement Fund or the Vietnam Conflict Compensation Fund, out of the funds of the treasury, not otherwise appropriated, such amount as is proper for use, upon order of the commissioners for the purpose for which such funds are created. If the General Assembly appropriates any funds to the Vietnam Conflict Compensation Fund, the amount of the appropriation at the time the commissioners have issued bonds or notes of the aggregate amount of face value of bonds or notes in this section, the aggregate amount of face value of bonds or notes so authorized to be issued shall be reduced by the amount of the funds so appropriated.

On or before the first day of July in each calendar year, the commissioners shall certify to the auditor of state the total amount of funds it determines is necessary to provide, together with all other money that will be available in the Vietnam Conflict Compensation Bond Retirement Fund, for the retirement of bonds or notes of the calendar year. The auditor of state shall transfer from the state general revenue fund to the Vietnam Conflict Compensation Bond Retirement Fund, without appropriation, an amount equal to the amount so certified. The Vietnam Conflict Compensation Bond Retirement Fund shall be paid out without appropriation by the General Assembly, in the order of the commissioners for the purpose of the payment, or retirement in other manner of said bonds or notes and interest thereon.

The Vietnam Conflict Compensation Fund shall be paid out upon order of the commissioners, without appropriation by the General Assembly, in payment of the expenses of administering this section, and as compensation as follows: every person except persons ordered to active duty for training only, who has served on active duty in the armed forces of the United States at any time between August 5, 1964 and July 1, 1973, or who has served on active duty in the armed forces of the United States in Vietnam service, and who, at the time of commencing such service, was and had been a resident of the state for at least one year immediately preceding the commencement of such service, and (1) who was honorably discharged from such service, or (2) who is still in such service, or (3) who has been retired, is entitled to receive compensation of ten dollars for each month during which such person was in active domestic service during the compensable period, and twenty dollars for each month during which such person was in active Vietnam service, but not Vietnam service during the compensable period, and the maximum amount payable to any qualified applicant, unless such applicant qualifies for a payment based upon missing in action or prisoner of war status or unless such applicant qualifies for a survivors' payment, is five hundred dollars. No compensation shall be paid under this section to any person who received from another state a bonus or compensation of a like nature, or to any person who has not served on active duty in the armed forces of the United States during the compensable period for at least ninety days unless active duty within such compensable period was terminated as a result of injury or illness sustained in Vietnam service. Compensation for a fraction of a month of service shall be paid on the basis of thirty days for the appropriate monthly amounts for each day of such service. Persons medically discharged or medically retired from service due to combat related disabilities sustained in Vietnam service shall be paid five hundred dollars. Merchant Marine of the United States shall not be considered for the purpose of this section. As used in this section, "domestic service" means service within the territorial limits of the fifty states, excluding sea duty. "Armed forces of the United States" means service within the territorial limits of all other places, excluding ing Vietnam service; and "Vietnam service" means military service within the Republic of Vietnam during the period between February 28, 1961 and July 1, 1973, and the period in Southeast Asia for which hostile fire pay was awarded pursuant to Title 38, United States Code, during the period February 28, 1961 through July 1, 1973.

No compensation shall be paid under this section to any person for any periods of time spent under penal confinement during the period of active duty.

Either the surviving spouse, or the surviving child or children, or the surviving parents, including persons standing in loco parentis for one year preceding commencement of service in the armed forces of the United States, of a deceased person shall be paid the same amount of money as the deceased would have been entitled to receive under this section, if living. If such deceased person's death was determined by the Veterans Administration of the United States to have been the result of injuries or death incurred in active service, his survivors as herein designated, are entitled to one thousand dollars, regardless of the amount of compensation which the deceased would have been entitled to receive under this section, if living. The amount of compensation payable to such survivors shall be payable only to one of the three groups of survivors herein designated in the order in which said groups are named.

Every person designated by the United States Department of Defense as missing in action as a result of honorable service, or held in enemy captivity or who is the spouse, or the child, or the parent, including persons standing in loco parentis for one year preceding commencement of service, of a person designated by the Department of Defense as missing in action as a result of honorable service or held in enemy captivity, is entitled to one thousand dollars in lieu of other cash benefits payable under this section. The amount of compensation payable to such claimants for such missing or captive person shall be payable only to one of the groups of claimants herein designated in the order in which said groups are named. No payment to any survivor of a person designated as missing in action as a result of honorable service or held in enemy captivity, while such person is held captive or is missing in action, shall prevent such missing or captive person from receiving a payment of a bonus of an equal amount upon his being released or located.

The General Assembly shall provide by law for an educational assistance bonus which may be taken in lieu of the cash bonus by any person who served on active duty in the armed forces of the United States and who qualifies for a cash bonus under this section. The educational assistance bonus shall offer financial assistance at any educational institution deemed appropriate by the General Assembly. Such financial assistance shall be equal to twice the amount of the cash bonus for which such person qualifies under this section.

No sale or assignment of any right or claim to compensation under this section shall be valid, no claims of creditors shall be enforceable against rights or claims to or payments of compensation under this section, and no fees shall be charged for services in connection with the prosecution of any right or claim to compensation or the collection of any compensation under this section.

The commissioners shall have complete charge of making payments of the compensation provided for in this section and shall adopt and promulgate regulations governing their procedure in connection therewith, including determinations as to who are proper beneficiaries and the amounts to which such beneficiaries are entitled, determinations as to whether an applicant has the necessary residence requirements, and such other regulations that are necessary and proper. All applications for payment of compensation or educational bonuses under this section shall be made to the commissioners before January 1, 1978.

The commissioners shall select and appoint such legal counsel and employees as are necessary, fix their compensation and prescribe their duties, and all such appointees shall serve at its pleasure. When practical the commissioners shall employ Vietnam veterans to fill such positions.

The commissioners shall permit review of individual records of claims for compensation of retired veterans organizations when authorized to do so by the applicant.

There is hereby transferred to the Vietnam Conflict Compensation Fund, for the purpose of defraying the immediate cost of administration and compensation, out of the funds known as the "Korean Conflict Compensation Fund" and the "Korean Conflict Compensation Bond Retirement Fund" created by section 2d of Article VIII of the Ohio Constitution, the balance remaining after provision for payment of outstanding bonds or notes, coupons, and charges.

The people of this state declare it to be their intention to do in no manner affect or change any of the existing provisions of the constitution except as herein set forth. The provisions of this section shall be self executing.

Upon payment of all valid claims for cash compensation made within the limitations of time as prescribed herein, the commissioners may transfer any funds in the Vietnam Conflict Compensation Fund to the Vietnam Conflict Compensation Bond Retirement Fund.

Upon retirement of all of the bonds or notes that may be issued hereunder and the payment of all valid claims for cash compensation made within the limitations of time as prescribed herein, the commissioners shall make a final report to the General Assembly, and any balance remaining in any of the funds herein created and referred to shall be disposed of as shall be provided by law.

EFFECTIVE DATE

If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment shall take effect January 1, 1974.

The Ohioans met recently with representatives of similar reform groups in seven other states—Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota and California.

At the meeting in Chicago, the delegates laid plans for future gatherings and drafted a statement rebuking national party Chairman Robert Stauss. The group said Stauss had urged "Democrats in Congress to abandon their constitutional role in evaluating a vice presidential nominee."

Leib, 58, said the caucus traces its lineage back to the mid-1960s. He said similar groups emerged in many states after the unsuccessful runs of Eugene McCarthy and Bobby Kennedy.

"We are considered a reform wing by some, dismissed as dissidents by others," he said. "Whether party leaders consider us as a branch of the party I don't know."

Members of the caucus are Democrats, he said. The local clubs—including groups in Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown, Columbus and Bowling Green — are all flavored by Democratic commitment.

"We are not chartered," Leib said,

"and we don't expect to be."

Leib said the group will try to serve as a coordinator between local clubs and on statewide issues for the most part. But the group already has made moves beyond the state level.

Although the reform groups in most of the other states were formed as chapters in the national New Democratic Coalition, Leib said the Ohioans plan to remain as independent as possible.

Similarly, local groups in Ohio—such as the 23rd Congressional District Caucus in Cleveland—will retain their individual identity, he said.

The caucus "will be a statewide coordinating body," he said.

ABA Rule Nicklaus Change Voids Gives Purse Fouling Out To Charity

NEW YORK (AP) — American Basketball Association officials are comparing their new rule change, which will prohibit players from fouling out, with the American League's experiment with the designated hitter in baseball.

"There were a lot of complaints about the designated hitter when it first started, but now everyone thinks it's a great idea," said ABA Commissioner Mike Storen after the rule was adopted Monday for the 1973-74 season by the ABA trustees. "The same was true when basketball did away with the center jump. We hope this ruling will work out as favorably as the other innovative ideas have."

While Storen is bubbling over with enthusiasm, the rest of the league is not quite so ebullient.

The change, which will ignore the six-fouls-and-you're-out rule still followed in the National Basketball Association, will keep the superstar in the game longer.

Under the new rules, after a player accumulates his seventh foul, the other team gets the appropriate number of foul shots and also retains possession of the ball.

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP)— Jack Nicklaus unemotionally romped over his rivals in the $125,000 Ohio Kings Island Open. He emotionally turned down a $25,000 payday.

"I don't accept the purse," said Nicklaus, whose final 72 gave him a four-round total of 271, 13 under par and six shots ahead of runnerup Lee Trevino.

Nicklaus announced he was setting up a $20,000 Ohio State University scholarship in the name of his late father, Columbus, Ohio, pharmacist Charles Nicklaus.

The other $5,000 went to the Boy Scouts of America, the charity benefiting from all of the proceeds of his new tour event at the Nicklaus Golf Center.

Cleveland Browns Get Chuck Hutchinson

CLEVELAND (AP)—Lineman Chuck Hutchinson is scheduled to join the Cleveland Browns today to replace injured rookie lineman Pete Adams.

Hutchinson is a 6 foot-3, 258-pound guard with three years pro experience. He was cut from the St. Louis Cardinals late in camp and has been a free agent because he was not picked up on waivers.

(Amended House Joint Resolution No. 13)

JOINT RESOLUTION
Proposing to amend section 35 of Article II of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to authorize agricultural land for taxation in accordance with its current use.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1973, a proposal to amend section 35 of Article II of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE II
Section 35. Laws may be passed to encourage forestry and agriculture, and to that end areas devoted exclusively to forestry may be exempted, in whole or in part, from taxation. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 2 of Article XII, laws may be passed to provide that land devoted exclusively to agricultural use be valued for real property tax purposes at the current value such land has for such agricultural use. Laws may also be passed to provide for the deferral or recoupment of any part of the difference in the dollar amount of the real property tax levied in any year on land valued in accordance with its agricultural use and the dollar amount of real property tax which would have been levied upon such land had it been valued for such year in accordance with section 2 of Article XII. Laws may be passed to provide for converting into forest reserves such lands or parts of lands as have been or may be forfeited to the state, to authorize the acquiring of other lands for that purpose; also, to provide for the conservation of the natural resources of the state, including streams, lakes, submerged and swamp lands and the development and regulation of water power and the formation of drainage and conservation districts; and to provide for the regulation of methods of mining, weighing, measuring and marketing coal, oil, gas and all other minerals.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL.
If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment the amendment shall take effect January 1, 1974, and existing section 35 of Article II of the Constitution of Ohio shall be repealed from such effective date.

(Amended Senate Joint Resolution No. 9)

JOINT RESOLUTION
Proposing to amend section 8 of Article XII of the Constitution of the State of Ohio relative to the determination of the amount of income exempt from taxation.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1973, a proposal to amend section 8 of Article XII of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE XII
Section 8. Laws may be passed providing for the taxation of incomes, and such taxation may be either uniform or graduated, and may be applied to such incomes as may be designated by law; but a part of each annual income as provided by law may be exempt from such taxation.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL.
If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment the amendment shall take effect immediately, and existing section 8 of Article XII of the Constitution of Ohio shall be repealed from such effective date.

(Amended Senate Joint Resolution No. 30)

JOINT RESOLUTION
Proposing to amend sections 1, 4, 5, and 6 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of Ohio, relative to administration and organization of the courts of Ohio.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1973, a proposal to amend sections 1, 4, 5, and 6 of Article IV of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE IV
Section 1. The judicial power of the state is vested in a supreme court, courts of appeals, courts of common pleas and divisions thereof, and such other courts inferior to the supreme court as may from time to time be established by law.

Section 4. (A) There shall be a court of common pleas and such divisions thereof as may be established by law serving each county of the state. Any judge of a court of common pleas or a division thereof may temporarily hold court in any county. In the interests of the fair, impartial, speedy, and sure administration of justice, and such other courts inferior to the supreme court as may from time to time be established by law.

(B) The court of common pleas and divisions thereof shall have such original jurisdiction over all justiciable matters and such powers of review of proceedings as may be provided by law. The court of common pleas and divisions thereof shall have such powers of review of proceedings as may be provided by law.

(C) Unless otherwise provided by law, there shall be a probate division and such other divisions of the courts of common pleas as may be provided by law. Judges shall be elected specifically to serve the probate division and to such other divisions. The judges of the probate division shall be empowered to employ, control, direct, and referee of such probate division of the common pleas courts.

Section 5. (A) (1) In addition to other powers vested by this article in the supreme court, the supreme court shall have general superintendence over all courts in the state. Such general superintending power shall be exercised by the chief justice in accordance with rules promulgated by the supreme court.

(2) The supreme court shall appoint an administrative director who shall assist the chief justice and who shall serve at the pleasure of the court. The compensation and duties of the administrative director shall be determined by the court.

(3) The chief justice or acting chief justice, as necessity arises shall assign any judge of a court of common pleas to a division thereof temporarily to sit or hold court on any other court of common pleas or division thereof or any court of appeals or shall assign any judge of a court of appeals temporarily to sit or hold court on any other court of appeals or any court of common pleas or division thereof and upon such assignment said judge shall serve in such assigned capacity until the termination of the assignment. Rules may be adopted to provide for the temporary assignment of judges to sit and hold court in any court established by law.

(B) The supreme court shall prescribe rules governing practice and procedure in all courts of the state, which rules shall not abridge, enlarge, or modify any substantive right. Proposed rules shall be filed by the court, not later than the fifth day of January, with the clerk of each house of the general assembly during a regular session thereof, and amendments to any such proposed rules shall be made not later than the first day of May in that session. Such rules shall take effect on the following first day of July, unless by the first day the general assembly adopts a concurrent resolution of disapproval. All laws in conflict with such rules shall be of no further force or effect after such rules have taken effect.

Courts may adopt additional rules concerning local practice in their respective courts which are not inconsistent with the rules promulgated by the supreme court. The supreme court may make rules to require uniform record keeping for all courts of the state, and shall make rules governing the admission to the practice of law and discipline of persons so admitted.

(C) The chief justice of the supreme court or any judge of that court designated by him shall pass upon the disqualification of a judge of the courts of appeals or courts of common pleas or division thereof. Rules may be adopted to provide for the hearing of disqualification matters involving judges of courts established by law.

Section 6. (A) (1) The chief justice and the justices of the supreme court shall be elected by the electors of the state at large, for terms of not less than six years.

(2) The judges of the courts of appeals shall be elected by the electors of their respective appellate districts, for terms of not less than six years.

(3) The judges of the courts of common pleas and the divisions thereof shall be elected by the electors of the counties, districts, or, as may be provided by law, other subdivisions, in which their respective courts are located, for terms of not less than six years, and each judge of a court of common pleas or division thereof shall reside during his term of office in the county, district or subdivision in which his court is located.

(4) Terms of office of all judges shall begin on the dates fixed by law, and laws shall be enacted to describe the times and mode of their election.

(B) The judges of the supreme court, courts of appeals, courts of common pleas, and divisions thereof, and of all courts of record established by law, shall, at stated times, receive, for their services such compensation as may be provided by law, which shall not be diminished during their term of office. The compensation of all judges of the supreme court, courts of appeals, and judges of divisions thereof, and judges of all courts of record established by law shall receive such compensation as may be provided by law. Judges shall receive no fees or perquisites, nor hold any other office of profit or trust, under the authority of this state, or of the United States. All votes for any judge, for any elective office, except a judicial office, given by the general assembly, or the people shall be void.

No person shall be elected or appointed to any judicial office on or before the day when he shall assume the office and enter upon the discharge of its duties he shall have attained the age of twenty years. Any voluntarily retired judge, or any judge who is retired under this section, may be assigned with his consent by the chief justice or acting chief justice of the supreme court to active duty as a judge and such serving shall receive the established compensation for such office, computed upon a per diem basis, in addition to any retirement benefits to which he may be entitled. Laws may be passed providing retirement benefits for judges.

The above proposal shall be placed on the official ballot at the election herein before referred to in essentially the following manner:

Shall Sections 1, 4, 5, and 6 of Article IV of the Constitution of Ohio be amended to provide for establishment of divisions of Courts of Common Pleas, to permit the organization of Courts of Common Pleas into districts and to provide for inclusion of all Judges of Courts of Record within the terms and conditions of Article IV, Section 6 (B) relative to prohibiting Judges from holding any other office of profit or trust under authority of this State, or of the United States, prohibiting compensation from being diminished during term of office, and prohibiting Judges from receiving any fees or perquisites. (Amended Substitute House Joint Resolution No. 1)

JOINT RESOLUTION
Proposing to adopt section 2 of Article VIII of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to provide compensation for military service during the period of the Vietnam conflict through the proceeds from the sale of state general obligation bonds.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members of each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, in the manner prescribed by law, at a special election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1973, a proposal to amend section 2 of Article VIII of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE VIII

Section 2. The board of commissioners created by section 8 of Article VIII of the Ohio Constitution shall, forthwith upon the adoption of this amendment, proceed to issue bonds, or notes, in such amount or notes of the state in such amounts of face value as are necessary to provide the funds, or such part thereof, as may be required to pay the compensation and the expenses of administering this section. The aggregate amount of such bonds or notes so issued shall not exceed three hundred million dollars. The full faith and credit of the state is hereby pledged for the payment of such bonds or notes.

All bonds or notes so issued shall mature in not more than fifteen years commencing not later than two years after the respective dates thereof. The bonds or notes shall mature according to schedules set forth by the board of commissioners and shall not mature more than fifteen years after the date of issue. No bonds or notes shall be issued or sold until after the first day of April, 1977.

All bonds or notes shall bear interest at such rates as the commissioners determine and shall be payable semiannually. Such bonds or notes, and the interest thereon are exempt from all taxes levied by the state, or any taxing district thereof. At the option of the commissioners the bonds or notes may be issued subject to call on any interest payment date at par and accrued interest.

All sales of such bonds or notes by the commissioners shall be in accordance with such regulations as the commission adopts and promulgates. Such bonds or notes shall be sold only to the highest bidder or bidders after notice of sale has been published once each week for three consecutive weeks on the same day of each week, the first of such notices being published at least twenty full days before the date of sale, in a newspaper of general circulation in each of the eight most populous counties in the state. Notices shall state the day, hour and place of the sale, the total face value of the bonds or notes to be sold, their denominations, dates, and the dates of their maturities, information relative to the rates of interest that the bonds or notes will bear, and the dates upon which interest will be payable. The commissioners may reject any or all bids and re-advertise and re-offer bonds or notes for sale.

Out of the proceeds of the sale of all bonds or notes, that amount that represents accrued interest, if any, shall be paid into the state treasury into a fund to be known as the Vietnam Conflict Compensation Bond Retirement Fund, and the balance shall be paid into the state treasury into a fund to be known as the Vietnam Conflict Compensation Fund. The General Assembly may appropriate out of the proceeds of the Vietnam Conflict Compensation Bond Retirement Fund or the Vietnam Conflict Compensation Fund, out of the funds in the treasury, or otherwise appropriated, such amount as is proper for use, upon order of the commissioners for the purpose of which such funds are created. If the General Assembly appropriates any funds to the Vietnam Conflict Compensation Fund prior to the time the commissioners have issued bonds or notes of the aggregate amount of face value authorized in this section, the aggregate amount of face value of bonds or notes so authorized to be issued shall be reduced by the amount of the funds so appropriated.

On or before the first day of July in each calendar year, the commissioners shall certify to the auditor of state the total amount of funds determined to be necessary to provide, together with all other money that will be available in the Vietnam Conflict Compensation Bond Retirement Fund, for the retirement of bonds or notes and the payment of interest in the ensuing calendar year. The auditor shall transfer from the state general revenue fund to the Vietnam Conflict Compensation Bond Retirement Fund, without appropriation, an amount equal to the amount so certified. The Vietnam Conflict Compensation Bond Retirement Fund shall be paid out without appropriation by the General Assembly, upon the order of the commissioners for the purpose of the payment, or payment in other manner, of such bonds or notes and interest thereon.

The Vietnam Conflict Compensation Fund shall be paid out upon order of the commissioners without appropriation by the General Assembly, in payment of the expenses of administering this section, and compensation as follows: every person, except persons ordered to active duty for training only, who has served on active duty in the armed forces of the United States at any time between August 5, 1964 and July 1, 1973, or who has served on active duty in the armed forces of the United States in Vietnam service, and who, at the time of commencing such service, was and had been a resident of the United States at least one year immediately preceding the commencement of such service, and (1) who was separated from such service under honorable conditions, (2) who is still in such service, or (3) who has been retired, is entitled to receive compensation of ten dollars for each month during which such person was in active domestic service during the compensable period, fifteen dollars for each month during which such person was in active foreign service, but not Vietnam service, during the compensable period, and twenty dollars for each month during which such person was in active Vietnam service, the maximum amount of cash payable to any qualified applicant, unless such applicant qualifies for a payment based upon missing in action or prisoner of war status, or unless such applicant qualifies for a survivors' payment, is five hundred dollars. No compensation shall be paid under this section to any person who received from another state a bonus or compensation of a like nature or to any person who has not served on active duty in the armed forces of the United States during the compensable period for at least ninety days unless active duty was terminated as a result of injuries or illness sustained in Vietnam service. Compensation shall be paid on a month of service shall be paid on the basis of one-thirtieth of the appropriate monthly amounts for each day of each month during which such person was in active domestic service, but not Vietnam service, during the compensable period, and twenty dollars for each month during which such person was in active Vietnam service, the maximum amount of cash payable to any qualified applicant, unless such applicant qualifies for a payment based upon missing in action or prisoner of war status, or unless such applicant qualifies for a survivors' payment, is five hundred dollars. No compensation shall be paid under this section to any person who received from another state a bonus or compensation of a like nature or to any person who has not served on active duty in the armed forces of the United States during the compensable period for at least ninety days unless active duty was terminated as a result of injuries or illness sustained in Vietnam service. Compensation shall be paid on a month of service shall be paid on the basis of one-thirtieth of the appropriate monthly amounts for each day of each month during which such person was in active domestic service, but not Vietnam service, during the compensable period, and twenty dollars for each month during which such person was in active Vietnam service, the maximum amount of cash payable to any qualified applicant, unless such applicant qualifies for a payment based upon missing in action or prisoner of war status, or unless such applicant qualifies for a survivors' payment, is five hundred dollars. No compensation shall be paid under this section to any person who received from another state a bonus or compensation of a like nature or to any person who has not served on active duty in the armed forces of the United States during the compensable period for at least ninety days unless active duty was terminated as a result of injuries or illness sustained in Vietnam service. Compensation shall be paid on a month of service shall be paid on the basis of one-thirtieth of the appropriate monthly amounts for each day of each month during which such person was in active domestic service, but not Vietnam service, during the compensable period, and twenty dollars for each month during which such person was in active Vietnam service, the maximum amount of cash payable to any qualified applicant, unless such applicant qualifies for a payment based upon missing in action or prisoner of war status, or unless such applicant qualifies for a survivors' payment, is five hundred dollars. No compensation shall be paid under this section to any person who received from another state a bonus or compensation of a like nature or to any person who has not served on active duty in the armed forces of the United States during the compensable period for at least ninety days unless active duty was terminated as a result of injuries or illness sustained in Vietnam service. Compensation shall be paid on a month of service shall be paid on the basis of one-thirtieth of the appropriate monthly amounts for each day of each month during which such person was in active domestic service, but not Vietnam service, during the compensable period, and twenty dollars for each month during which such person was in active Vietnam service, the maximum amount of cash payable to any qualified applicant, unless such applicant qualifies for a payment based upon missing in action or prisoner of war status, or unless such applicant qualifies for a survivors' payment, is five hundred dollars. No compensation shall be paid under this section to any person who received from another state a bonus or compensation of a like nature or to any person who has not served on active duty in the armed forces of the United States during the compensable period for at least ninety days unless active duty was terminated as a result of injuries or illness sustained in Vietnam service. Compensation shall be paid on a month of service shall be paid on the basis of one-thirtieth of the appropriate monthly amounts for each day of each month during which such person was in active domestic service, but not Vietnam service, during the compensable period, and twenty dollars for each month during which such person was in active Vietnam service, the maximum amount of cash payable to any qualified applicant, unless such applicant qualifies for a payment based upon missing in action or prisoner of war status, or unless such applicant qualifies for a survivors' payment, is five hundred dollars. No compensation shall be paid under this section to any person who received from another state a bonus or compensation of a like nature or to any person who has not served on active duty in the armed forces of the United States during the compensable period for at least ninety days unless active duty was terminated as a result of injuries or illness sustained in Vietnam service. Compensation shall be paid on a month of service shall be paid on the basis of one-thirtieth of the appropriate monthly amounts for each day of each month during which such person was in active domestic service, but not Vietnam service, during the compensable period, and twenty dollars for each month during which such person was in active Vietnam service, the maximum amount of cash payable to any qualified applicant, unless such applicant qualifies for a payment based upon missing in action or prisoner of war status, or unless such applicant qualifies for a survivors' payment, is five hundred dollars. No compensation shall be paid under this section to any person who received from another state a bonus or compensation of a like nature or to any person who has not served on active duty in the armed forces of the United States during the compensable period for at least ninety days unless active duty was terminated as a result of injuries or illness sustained in Vietnam service. Compensation shall be paid on a month of service shall be paid on the basis of one-thirtieth of the appropriate monthly amounts for each day of each month during which such person was in active domestic service, but not Vietnam service, during the compensable period, and twenty dollars for each month during which such person was in active Vietnam service, the maximum amount of cash payable to any qualified applicant, unless such applicant qualifies for a payment based upon missing in action or prisoner of war status, or unless such applicant qualifies for a survivors' payment, is five hundred dollars. 1. Card of Thanks

I would like to thank all my friends, neighbors and relatives for the prayers, cards, flowers and other gifts I received while a patient in Berger Hospital. A special thanks to Dr. Moore, the nurses and nurses aids, Chuck Weisman of Weisman Funeral Home, all the ministers who visited me. May God grant you all his richest blessings.

Thomas R. Boyer

I wish to thank the following for their prayers, thoughtfulness, care, many cards and flowers during my stay in St. Carolus Hospital. Dr. F. W. Anderson for his wishes and advice. Dr. Henry B. Lacey, Dr. Ted Eber, the hospital staff, David Cyrus and members of the First Church of Christ in Christian Union, many friends and relatives. Also thank God for my husband and daughter for their presence, love and care.

Mrs. Shirley Dean

1. Card of Thanks

I would like to thank all my friends, neighbors and relatives for the prayers, cards, flowers and other gifts received while a patient in Berger Hospital. A special thanks to Dr. Moore, the nursing staff and nurses. Also, Chuck Wolman of Wellman Funeral Home, all the ministers who visited me. May God grant you all his richest blessings.

Thomas R. Boyer

I wish to thank the following for their prayers, thoughtfulness, care, many cards and flowers during my stay in St. Carmel Hospital. Dr. F. W. Anderson, for his wishes and advice. Dr. Henry B. Lacey, Dr. Ted Ebner, the hospital staff, Rev. David Cyrus and members of the First Church of Christ in Christian Union, many friends and relatives. Thank God for my husband and daughter for their presence, love and care.

Mrs. Shirley Dean

'Convenience' Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The upward spiral in food prices the past few years apparently has not dampened consumer enthusiasm for convenience-type poultry, according to the Agriculture Department.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz has often referred to shoppers wanting what he calls "built in maid services" in food products. That preference helps run up grocery bills and is not the farmer's fault, he says.

Food economists have acknowledged in recent months that shoppers could save money by avoiding the higher cost convenience items.

But the Economic Research Service in USDA says the popularity of "further processed" poultry continues to climb and that by 1980 nearly one-fifth of this nation's per capita poultry consumption could be from the convenience items.

The idea is this: Instead of a housewife buying a whole dressed chicken or turkey, cutting it up and then preparing a dinner from scratch, she is leaning more toward having food processors to do it for her.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Grasp the new and forget the old at present, for many apparently insoluble problems connected with unfinished projects require some time before finishing. There are all kinds of possibilities in a new set of constructive circumstances now coming to your attention. Keep wide awake.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A newcomer can now give you the right slant for gaining your finest aims. Avoid one who is depressing. Plan a trip that can be pleasurable.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get into new interests that could lead into something very worthwhile. Reach a better understanding with a bigwig. Use tact handling difficult situation of long standing.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Go after the information you require for a new interest. Study newspaper for new ideas you need. A good day for advancement.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Find modern methods that can help make your operations far more efficient, profitable. Forget argument with loved one and make life pleasant. Cheer others.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Find some new associate who can add new life to present operations. Discuss ideas carefully. Steer clear of an ally who is unreasonable today. Take mate out.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Find new system that will help you plow through all that work efficiently. Take new health treatments that can be helpful and make you more dynamic, charming.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get together with allies and improve some project so that it becomes truly successful. Gad about and study more modern trends. Drive with care and improve diet.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get out of that rut and investigate new interests that could prove profitable. Buy the new accessories that will improve your wardrobe. Do nothing impulsive.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Enjoy favorite recreations. Try to please your mate more. Come to a true understanding and be happy. A good day for making recordings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Some new approach at home can make a whale of a difference and get excellent results. Buy new furnishings for home. Invite friends in tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Your mind is keen and you can put across excellent deals, start a better working method. Make notations of new ideas to remember them. Command a greater income.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Read trade, business journals for information needed to have a greater income. Talk to that business person you have long avoided. He's not as way-out as you think.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those youngsters who will do well in New Era professions, so slant the education along such lines and at the right schools. The mind here is excellent and the willingness to work hard is apparent early. The inventive bent is pronounced also and humanity could be much benefitted by such. Give the spiritual training early that brings inspiration. Make sure the diet is right during childhood.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

NEW YORK (AP) — "Shaft" was a lively movie about John Shaft, a hip, tough black private eye. It's been made into a once-a-month TV series and is making its debut tonight on CBS.

It has two things in common with the movie. Richard Roundtree, a fine actor, still plays Shaft. And the theme music is the same. Any other resemblance to the original is purely coincidental.

The film's bite has been turned into a muffled bark in tonight's show, which deals with a pack of prominent urban vigilantes who go about slaying alleged villains the courts have set free.

The only redeeming element in the show, aside from Roundtree, is cast regular Ed Barth. He plays Shaft's police buddy, Lt. Al Rossi, with a believably low-key, raspy-voiced approach. Alas, he and the others are caught in brist but very bad script that leaps about faster than a flute player's upper lip during the William Tell Overture and with far less effect.

It starts in court, where a prominent criminal lawyer gets a client acquitted of a charge of killing a cop. The cop's partner (Richard Jaeckel) confronts the two and vows mortal vengeance. Shaft, the lawyer's friend, steps in when the barrister and his client are found dead in the East River. Jaeckel has an alibi: he was playing poker with solid citizens the night of the deaths.

Shaft and Rossi probe deeper and find out the two victims are the latest in a series of bodies found in the East River. It turns out all the victims have been tried for crimes and found innocent, save the lawyer, who has defended most of them.

Shaft goes on the trail and learns many of the victims had been acquitted of alleged crimes against the families of the solid citizens listed in Jaeckel's alibi.

He then learns that said citizens — a retired judge, a prominent lawyer, an advertising executive and so on — have formed their own posse to do in the people they feel the courts stupidly set free.

I'm not giving away any last-minute secrets, because the show tells all from start to finish.

The only questions viewers might have, should they watch "Shaft" tonight, are how quickly will Shaft discover the clues, how many shots will be fired thereafter and how soon will all this be over?

It's a shame the show's a dog, because the series has potential. Maybe on the next go-around a little suspense will be included.

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Grasp the new and forget the old at present, for many apparently insoluble problems connected with unfinished projects require some time before finishing. There are all kinds of possibilities in a new set of constructive circumstances now coming to your attention. Keep wide awake.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A newcomer can now give you the right slant for gaining your finest aims. Avoid one who is depressing. Plan a trip that can be pleasurable.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get into new interests that could lead into something very worthwhile. Reach a better understanding with a bigwig. Use tact handling difficult situation of long standing.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Go after the information you require for a new interest. Study newspaper for new ideas you need. A good day for advancement.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Find modern methods that can help make your operations far more efficient, profitable. Forget argument with loved one and make life pleasant. Cheer others.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Find some new associate who can add new life to present operations. Discuss ideas carefully. Steer clear of an ally who is unreasonable today. Take mate out.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Find new system that will help you plow through all that work efficiently. Take new health treatments that can be helpful and make you more dynamic, charming.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get together with allies and improve some project so that it becomes truly successful. Gad about and study more modern trends. Drive with care and improve diet.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get out of that rut and investigate new interests that could prove profitable. Buy the new accessories that will improve your wardrobe. Do nothing impulsive.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Enjoy favorite recreations. Try to please your mate more. Come to a true understanding and be happy. A good day for making recordings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Some new approach at home can make a whale of a difference and get excellent results. Buy new furnishings for home. Invite friends in tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Your mind is keen and you can put across excellent deals, start a better working method. Make notations of new ideas to remember them. Command a greater income.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Read trade, business journals for information needed to have a greater income. Talk to that business person you have long avoided. He's not as way-out as you think.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those youngsters who will do well in New Era professions, so slant the education along such lines and at the right schools. The mind here is excellent and the willingness to work hard is apparent early. The inventive bent is pronounced also and humanity could be much benefitted by such. Give the spiritual training early that brings inspiration. Make sure the diet is right during childhood.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

Even with all the assurances of a presidential veto, the House recently passed legislation providing $800 million in operating subsidies for urban mass transit systems.

I am strongly opposed to the legislation and believe that it should be vetoed. Neither will it bail out the systems in distress nor will it help to improve mass transit in the country. But it will perpetuate obsolete systems, reduce needed local incentives and self-sufficiency as well as open the Federal coffers to an endless stream of expenses for which the corresponding benefit to the taxpayers is highly suspect.

It is a classic example of how millions of taxpayers dollars can be wasted in unwise legislation based on the preposterous theory that throwing money at a problem will somehow make it go away.

If enacted, this legislation would mean that an estimated 1,000 local transit systems would look to the Federal government for help. But under the allocation formula—which is based on population, and passenger and vehicular miles travelled—only a handful of cities with obsolete systems would get the lion's share of the money. Five cities, in fact, would receive over 40 percent of the funds each year.

Besides this basic inequity, the greatest flaw of such a formula is that it has no relationship whatsoever to the efficiency of the operation of the systems involved. There are few safeguards protecting the already overstrained Federal budget and virtually no assurances that the funds made available will encourage more efficient and improved operation of the systems being aided. In no time at all, the Federal government would be in a billion dollar, budget-busting, no-strings-attached subsidy business.

Moreover, the problems plaguing mass transit systems are primarily local in origin. The decreasing ridership and increased costs which have plunged most of the nation's mass transit systems into the red are the consequences of poor planning at the local level. If a mass transit system is located in an area where the local government chooses to provide incentives to use other modes of transportation by its land use policies, the pricing and supply of parking facilities and its traffic regulations, that system has only a minimal chance to survive without subsidies.

To call in the Secretary of Transportation and to involve him in the strictly local administrative decisions on such transportation policies—as this legislation provides—is absolutely unnecessary and saddles him with a responsibility that belongs at the local level. It would be one sure-fire way to increase red tape and Federal bureaucracy, but it would be no way to run a mass transit system.

I fail to see where, if the Federal government began footing the bill for loosing mass transit systems, the basic ills plaguing them would miraculously disappear. Without any incentives for improvement but with someone else paying the costs, why should local communities face up to their mobility problems if Uncle Sam can be taken for a mass transit ride?

I also question whether money should be provided to operate mass transit systems if consumer preferences have not already created enough demand to sustain these services profitably. During the hearings on this legislation earlier this year, even those witnesses advocating mass transit subsidies had to admit that the voters of their respective states had recently defeated referenda which would have aided mass transit systems. Why, then, should Federal taxpayers be asked to pay for that which the local taxpayers rejected? Why should the taxpayers of the Sixth District pay for the transportation of the people of New York or Boston?

Youths Plead Not Guilty In Slayings

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Trial dates have been set for early next year for two teenaged youths who claim they are innocent in the slaying of 27 young males here, the worst known case of mass murder in the nation's history.

Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, responded with "not guilty" six times as each of six murder indictments against him was read by state District Court Judge William Hatten on Monday.

David Owen Brooks, 18, said "not guilty" four times on four murder indictments.

Henley's trial was set for Jan. 14, and Brooks will face a jury March 4.

Ted Musick, Brooks' lawyer, indicated he will request a sanity hearing for his client. He said that, if Brooks is found sane, he will ask that the trial be moved elsewhere.

"I don't believe we can get a fair trial here," Musick said. Then, referring to the wide publicity the case has received, he added: "But then I'm not sure where we can."

The two youths reportedly told officers a tale of brutal homosexual rapes and murders.

Helped by the two youths, police dug up 27 bodies. Only 18 of the bodies have been identified.

Lash LaRue Now Minister

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Lash LaRue, who has been up and down many a valley since he punished bad guys in the movies, is now an evangelist whipping drunks into line for the Lord.

Seven years ago, The Cheyenne Kid hit bottom and was arrested for vagrancy with just 35 cents in his pocket. But LaRue is back in the saddle again, helping round up maverick souls at the Mission Power Headquarters and Home of the Apostles.

"I got sidetracked in the world of competition and got lost," said the 54-year-old former matinee idol who made a dozen films before leaving Hollywood in 1961. "I was in a situation where I didn't make a bargain with the Lord, but I dedicated my life to Him as His servant. My sense of values changed."

Kiwanis Eyes Programs On 'Later Years'

The Circleville Kiwanis Club is participating with other clubs throughout the United States and Canada in a program aimed at "making the later years greater years," it was announced by Fred Bowers, president.

Entitled "Enrich The Lives of the Aging," the program is the result of extensive research and organizational effort. Facilities of the National Council on Aging have been employed in program preparation and the council has contributed advice and counsel to Kiwanis.

The program will cover a wide latitude of services to older citizens with individual Kiwanis clubs selecting to undertake one or several individual services.

The services included in the program are: senior volunteer program, senior work action, older persons and the arts, friendly visitors, telephone reassurance, meals, transportation, health screening program, youth escort, courses and seminars, planning for retirement.

Three Injured In Accident

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy T. Peter Marshall, investigated a single car injuring three persons 8:36 p.m. Monday on the Williamsport-Darbyville Road.

James M. Bricker, 17, Grove City, driver of the vehicle, was driving southwest on Williamsport-Darbyville Road approaching State Route 56 when he ran off the right berm of the road slamming into a tree.

8 Children Die In Trailer Blaze

JERRY CITY, Ohio (AP) — Eight children, all brothers and sisters under the age of 10, died early today when fire swept through their trailer home, the sheriff's office in Wood County reported.

Dr. Roger Peatee, the coroner in Wood County, said the children apparently died of asphyxiation.

The young victims were identified as the children of Mr. and Mrs. Jesus Trevino of the Dale Roe Trailer Park.

Frank Paden, owner of Paden Mortuary in nearby North Baltimore, said the parents were at work at Bowling Green State University, 10 miles north of Bowling Green, when the fire broke out.

Paden identified the dead children as Santos, 1; Carlos, 2; Jesus Jr., 3; Nieves, 4; Rita, 5; Maria, 6; Santiago, 7, and Jose, 9.

Exact cause of the fire was not immediately known.

Sheriff's officers theorized the fire started in an overheated television set.

City Police Nab Runaway Boys

Two 15-year-old Circleville boys, who ran away from the 20th Century Crusade Boy's Home in Sugar Grove Sunday morning, were apprehended 12:40 p.m. Monday by Sgt. Larry Pontious and Ptl. Bill Pontious of the Circleville Police Department.

The officers spotted the youths on W. Franklin St. and took them into custody. They were returned to the Boy's Home in Sugar Grove.

They said the children, all fully clothed, had been grouped around the TV, which was burned in the fire.

Damage to the remainder of the trailer was slight, witnesses said.

Only one of the children, the youngest, showed signs of having been burned, the officers said. He apparently was nearest the television.

But Jerry City Fire Chief George Loomis said he was checking the possibility a small space heater or a gas stove may have been the cause of the fire that tore through the small trailer.

A neighbor, Jane Trumbull, told reporters she heard a commotion in the trailer about 5 a.m. She said she then heard what she thought was an explosion.

Mrs. Trumbull's husband, Merle, rushed to the Trevino trailer and found the doors locked, she said.

She said she then called the fire department.

"It looked like the youngest baby burned to death and the rest of them died of smoke inhalation," Loomis said.

"The firemen tried to revive them with mouth to mouth resuscitation, but they couldn't bring them back," he said.

Loomis said the children were found in various rooms of the house.

"There were beds and mattresses all over the place," the fire chief said. The youngest child reportedly was found in a crib.

Sheriff's deputies said the parents learned of the fire while returning home from work.

Firemen from Jerry City and a rescue squad from nearby Bloomdale responded to calls for help.

The state fire marshal's office was called to investigate.

But under the allocation formula—which is based on population, and passenger and vehicular miles travelled—only a handful of cities with obsolete systems would get the lion's share of the money. Five cities, in fact, would receive over 40 percent of the funds each year.

Besides this basic inequity, the greatest flaw of such a formula is that it has no relationship whatsoever to the efficiency of the operation of the systems involved. There are few safeguards protecting the already overstrained Federal budget and virtually no assurances that the funds made available will encourage more efficient and improved operation of the systems being aided. In no time at all, the Federal government would be in a billion dollar, budget-busting, no-strings-attached subsidy business.

Moreover, the problems plaguing mass transit systems are primarily local in origin. The decreasing ridership and increased costs which have plunged most of the nation's mass transit systems into the red are the consequences of poor planning at the local level. If a mass transit system is located in an area where the local government chooses to provide incentives to use other modes of transportation by its land use policies, the pricing and supply of parking facilities and its traffic regulations, that system has only a minimal chance to survive without subsidies.

To call in the Secretary of Transportation and to involve him in the strictly local administrative decisions on such transportation policies—as this legislation provides—is absolutely unnecessary and saddles him with a responsibility that belongs at the local level. It would be one sure-fire way to increase red tape and Federal bureaucracy, but it would be no way to run a mass transit system.

I fail to see where, if the Federal government began footing the bill for losing mass transit systems, the basic ills plaguing them would miraculously disappear. Without any incentives for improvement but with someone else paying the costs, why should local communities face up to their mobility problems if Uncle Sam can be taken for a mass transit ride?

I also question whether money should be provided to operate mass transit systems if consumer preferences have not already created enough demand to sustain these services profitably. During the hearings on this legislation earlier this year, even those witnesses advocating mass transit subsidies had to admit that the voters of their respective states had recently defeated referenda which would have aided mass transit systems. Why, then, should Federal taxpayers be asked to pay for that which the local taxpayers rejected? Why should the taxpayers of the Sixth District pay for the transportation of the people of New York or Boston?

Youths Plead Not Guilty In Slayings

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Trial dates have been set for early next year for two teenaged youths who claim they are innocent in the slaying of 27 young males here, the worst known case of mass murder in the nation's history.

Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, responded with "not guilty" six times as each of six murder indictments against him was read by state District Court Judge William Hatten on Monday.

David Owen Brooks, 18, said "not guilty" four times on four murder indictments.

Henley's trial was set for Jan. 14, and Brooks will face a jury March 4. Ted Musick, Brooks' lawyer, indicated he will request a sanity hearing for his client. He said that, if Brooks is found sane, he will ask that the trial be moved elsewhere.

"I don't believe we can get a fair trial here," Musick said. Then, referring to the wide publicity the case has received, he added: "But then I'm not sure where we can."

The two youths reportedly told officers a tale of brutal homosexual rapes and murders.

Helped by the two youths, police dug up 27 bodies. Only 18 of the bodies have been identified.

Lash LaRue Now Minister

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Lash LaRue, who has been up and down many a valley since he punished bad guys in the movies, is now an evangelist whipping drunks into line for the Lord.

Seven years ago, The Cheyenne Kid hit bottom and was arrested for vagrancy with just 35 cents in his pocket. But LaRue is back in the saddle again, helping round up maverick souls at the Mission Power Headquarters and Home of the Apostles.

"I got sidetracked in the world of competition and got lost," said the 54-year-old former matinee idol who made a dozen films before leaving Hollywood in 1961. "I was in a situation where I didn't make a bargain with the Lord, but I dedicated my life to Him as His servant. My sense of values changed."

8 Children Die In Trailer Blaze

JERRY CITY, Ohio (AP) — Eight children, all brothers and sisters under the age of 10, died early today when fire swept through their trailer home, the sheriff's office in Wood County reported.

Dr. Roger Peatee, the coroner in Wood County, said the children apparently died of asphyxiation.

The young victims were identified as the children of Mr. and Mrs. Jesus Trevino of the Dale Roe Trailer Park.

Frank Paden, owner of Paden Mortuary in nearby North Baltimore, said the parents were at work at Bowling Green State University, 10 miles north of Bowling Green, when the fire broke out.

Paden identified the dead children as Santos, 1; Carlos, 2; Jesus Jr., 3; Nieves, 4; Rita, 6; Maria, 6; Santiago, 7, and Jose, 9.

Exact cause of the fire was not immediately known.

Sheriff's officers theorized the fire started in an overheated television set.

City Police Nab Runaway Boys

Two 15-year-old Circleville boys, who ran away from the 20th Century Crusade Boy's Home in Sugar Grove Sunday morning, were apprehended 12:40 p.m. Monday by Sgt. Larry Pontious and Ptl. Bill Pontious of the Circleville Police Department.

The officers spotted the youths on W. Franklin St. and took them into custody. They were returned to the Boy's Home in Sugar Grove.

They said the children, all fully clothed, had been grouped around the TV, which was burned in the fire.

Damage to the remainder of the trailer was slight, witnesses said.

Only one of the children, the youngest, showed signs of having been burned, the officers said. He apparently was nearest the television.

But Jerry City Fire Chief George Loomis said he was checking the possibility a small space heater or a gas stove may have been the cause of the fire that tore through the small trailer.

A neighbor, Jane Trumbull, told reporters she heard a commotion in the trailer about 5 a.m. She said she then heard what she thought was an explosion.

Mrs. Trumbull's husband, Merle, rushed to the Trevino trailer and found the doors locked, she said.

She said she then called the fire department.

"It looked like the youngest baby burned to death and the rest of them died of smoke inhalation," Loomis said.

"The firemen tried to revive them with mouth to mouth resuscitation, but they couldn't bring them back," he said.

Loomis said the children were found in various rooms of the house.

"There were beds and mattresses all over the place," the fire chief said. The youngest child reportedly was found in a crib.

Sheriff's deputies said the parents learned of the fire while returning home from work.

Firemen from Jerry City and a rescue squad from nearby Bloomdale responded to calls for help.

The state fire marshal's office was called to investigate.
